ENCASED POSTAGE STAMPS (From America's Largest Stock)

In August, 1862, in order to alleviate the shortage of coin caused by the Government's suspension of specie payments, plus general hoarding, John Gault of New York patented a small protective frame, made of brass, and fitted on one side with a transparent mica window, to encase individual postage stamps.

These pieces actually circulated as money, though, after two months, the supply of stamps ran out and further production was rendered impossible. The mica on them, being a natural mineral formation, is almost always scaly, often translucent or semi-opaque. "Stamps" with perfectly clear mica are very rare; those with damaged or broken mica undesirable. Today, all of these important numismatic and historical mementos are hard to locate.

AMERICAN NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

The American Numismatic Association, an educational and nonprofit organization, is the largest and most active numismatic body in the world. It invites and welcomes to membership all worthy persons seventeen years of age or over, who have a sincere interest in numismatics, whether they collect coins, paper money, tokens or medals, whether advanced collectors or only those generally interested in the subject without being collectors. The Association was founded in 1891, and has about 25,000 members from every state in the Union and many foreign countries. It was chartered for fifty years by Act of Congress May 9, 1912; renewed in perpetuity by Act of Congress April 10, 1962 and is a mutual organization for the benefit of its members.

All Association members, except Associate, receive the official publication, The Numismatist, without cost other than their annual dues. Membership applications should be accompanied by $5.00 for the first year's dues and $5.00 admittance fee. Annual dues are $5.00. Nonmember subscription, $6.00. Single copy, fifty cents. For application blanks, subscriptions or general information, write to the Executive Secretary.

The Numismatist is an illustrated monthly which has been issued continuously since its founding in 1888, consists of 144 pages or more in each number with subscribers in about sixty countries. Advertising inquiries should be sent to the Advertising Manager. All other matters for possible publication in or concerning The Numismatist are to be forwarded to the Editor. Unsolicited manuscripts, which are sent at the owner's risk, and other correspondence calling for a reply must be accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes. Opinions expressed in articles published in The Numismatist are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the American Numismatic Association or the Editor.

A.N.A. 72ND ANNUAL CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

1962 - 1963

The end of this fiscal year finds our membership at 25,202. This is by actual count of each category.

We now have 1019 affiliated clubs or an increase of 175 over last year.

Our income over expenses was again approximately $15,000.00.

Lewis M. Reagan Memorial Fund

As of June 30, 1963, there was approximately $12,000.00 in this fund. While we had hoped for a much larger amount, we are still collecting funds and will not stop our campaign until we feel these funds are sufficient to accomplish our aims.

All monies collected are intact. There have been no expenses charged to the Reagan Foundation. All charges for stationery, postage and printing has been assumed by the Professional Numismatists Guild.

Bylaws

The revised bylaws were published in the new Library catalog. While these are always subject to revision, they are now in conformity with our Charter. I thank John Pittman and Ellis Edlow for their excellent work.

A.N.A. Headquarters

At the present time all phases of an A.N.A. headquarters planning are being handled by Governor Charles M. Johnson. The Board of Governors realize that a thorough study of location sites and facilities should be made before any drive for funds gets under way.

The results of Mr. Johnson's investigations will be turned over to the new administration for action.

Legal and Bylaw Committee

On advice of our Legal Counsel, action was started in an attempt to stop "restrikes" without the word "copy" incused in the coin. At the time this is being written the manufacturers have agreed that word "copy" will be incused on the rim of future strikings. We are asking that they (the manufacturing company) sign documents to this effect.

Our committee and the Board of Governors feel that we will never receive coöperation from the Government Officials on the subject of gold notes, gold bars made before 1900, patterns and coins struck in off-metals. It is therefore our intention to attempt to have a bill introduced into this session of Congress which will legalize those numismatic and historical items which are now in question.

Publications

The membership directory seems to be the publication which causes the most discussion. A survey of the cost of publishing this directory has just been completed and it has been determined that in order to print a directory as complete as the 1957 edition the total cost will probably be between $28,000.00 and $33,000.00. I feel that the directory should be published but that some method should be used to recover part of our costs. The Library catalogue and Introduction to Numismatics promised last year have been published.

Archives

It has been decided that all historical documents should be kept in the Library. We therefore ask that any old photos, records, etc., be forwarded to Librarian John Gabarron.

Special Numismatist Mailing Rate

A committee was able to obtain for us a new "Educational" postal rate, effective on January 1st of this year. This new rate will reduce our costs of mailing by more than $6,000.00 each and every year from now on. Our thanks to Don Sherer who headed up this committee, and to Glenn Smedley, Ellis Edlow, Dr. V. Clain-Stefanelli, and Vir Den Mayo, who assisted him.

In Conclusion

In his annual report of 1961, Admiral Oscar H. Dodson made seven recommendations for the consideration of the new Board of Governors. Three of these have been adopted, viz.: Increase membership of Board of Governors; appoint General Secretary; appoint Building Fund Committee.

Election of a Board of Governors by districts has not been promoted. At the present time I would favor some such action.

The hiring of a full-time General Secretary and Editor is in the near future and should soon be a reality.

At the present time many numismatic organizations are charging the general public admission. The A.N.A. is an educational, cultural and nonprofit organization. I feel that it is our duty to invite the general public to view our displays free of charge.

Now as I leave the official family after twelve consecutive years of service, I wish to thank those elected and appointed officers and other committees who have done much to make it a pleasure to serve the Association.

Respectfully submitted,

C. C. SHROYER,
President

REPORT OF THE GENERAL SECRETARY

1962 - 1963

When I took this office a little over a year ago, everyone I talked to assured me that there would be plenty of work to do. There has been. I knew it would be fun and interesting and I can assure you there has never been a dull moment.

The primary report on my office is actually the Auditor's Report if you want facts and figures. The bulk of the work, however, has been setting up some office routine to handle the 176,000 pieces of mail that go through this office, in or out, each year. I believe we can truthfully say that mail is now being handled promptly.

Address changes are still our big "bug-a-boo." Taking into consideration new members, drop-outs, address changes, there have been over 15,000 in the last twelve months. With the new ZIP code number being put out by the Postal Department, this will mean an extra 25,000 changes during the next year. We are planning to ask everyone for their new ZIP code number when we send dues statements at the end of this year.

One of the accomplishments this year was the new postal rate on mailing The Numismatist to the members. This single item should result in a savings to the A.N.A. in excess of $6,000 each and every year.

We have also been busy trying to improve upon many of our forms and form letters that we originate in order to make them more complete and more understandable.

Right now, we are in the process of transferring all membership information to magnetic tape so things can be handled by the large electronic computers. There will be many advantages to the Association when this work is completed.

One of the interesting facets of this year's work has been the handling of the nominations for offices and working with the C.P.A. firm to set up standardized procedures that will insure our enjoying an honest and accurate election.

The staff that assists the General Secretary in all of this is remarkably small and remarkably efficient. During the first year, after transferring this A.N.A. office to Phoenix, there were a few temporary office workers and there was a great deal of voluntary assistance from the General Secretary's wife, Helen Sherer; but the regular staff is and will continue to be just two girls —

Catherine Marteeny and Jackie Post. Their ability and their great personal interest in the Association office has been noticed by almost everyone who has visited the office, and they have our greatest appreciation and thanks.

Glenn Smedley, as Assistant to the General Secretary, has rendered valuable service to our office.

Respectfully submitted,

DON SHERER,
General Secretary

REPORT OF THE SECOND VICE PRESIDENT

1962 - 1963

The year ending June 30, 1963, marks the first year under the new A.N.A. Club Representative program instituted in 1962. At the beginning of the year the club membership stood at 844 members. As of June 30th, 1963, the records show a total of 1019 member clubs. The increase of 175 member clubs is the largest yearly increase in the history of A.N.A. It is equivalent to a 20.7 percent growth during the past year. This growth rate agrees closely with the forecast made in my report a year ago that club membership would exceed one thousand in the ensuing year.

Of course, much of this growth was due to the spread of numismatics from which greater group activity would naturally result. However, some measure of credit must be given to the new club representative program. A great increase in club mail coming to this office during the past year certainly indicates a closer contact with member clubs and a greater interest in what the A.N.A. club program is offering to the membership.

Although we can claim that much of what was expected from the new program has been accomplished, we recognize that a lot of work must still be applied in an effort to make the program function more smoothly. Some adjustments may have to be made to make it more effective.

On the whole we can point with pride to what has been done during the past year, despite criticism from a few isolated sources. There will always be some who will not be in full accord with all parts of a new program. On the other hand, there have been many who have expressed their approval of what this office has done in the past two years. It is fitting therefore, that I take this opportunity to thank everyone connected with club activity for the interest and coöperation that have been shown.

It is by the expression of opinions and ideas, whether in agreement or disagreement with the program as it has been carried out, that we can build a greater and stronger club membership within the framework of A.N.A. New clubs continue to be formed and more and more existing clubs that have not yet become affiliated with A.N.A. are deciding to become members. On this basis we can confidently expect a further steady growth of club membership in the coming year.

Respectfully submitted,

HERBERT M. BERGEN,
Second Vice President

REPORT OF THE EDITOR

1962 - 1963

Diamond Jubilee! Seventy-five years! That is more than the three score and ten allotted to man. It is also more than the average time allotted to magazines. But The Numismatist did it. Strictly a part-time periodical, it has been issued regularly and without interruption since its birth in September, 1888. From yesterday's four-page leaflet to today's 144 to 160 page monthly could not have been attained without countless hours of labor by a few. Fortunately for the American Numismatic Association and its official publication, dedicated numismatists have always been found who give that bit of extra time and effort to keep The Numismatist coming off the press every thirty days.

The official publication's list of writers, business managers, advertising managers, associate editors and editors is a roster of illustrious men who strove mightily to bring numismatic truth to all who would read. Mistakes were made by its contributors, errors in judgment by its editors — yes, that is true, but a study of the magazine's output reveals a limitless and vast amount of numismatic knowledge has been spread before its readers. Let us pay tribute to those such as Heath, Zerbe, Frey, Adams, Duffield, Hewitt, Saxton and Mosher along with countless others who contributed so much of themselves that others might learn.

Thus we will reach our seventy-fifth birthday with our September number of tightly packed pages addressed to about 29,000 readers. Today's staff of three men are still part-time workers only, just as it has been from the beginning. And at this point may I express my appreciation to co-workers who are so cooperative: Advertising Manager S. W. Freeman and Assistant to the Editor Glenn B. Smedley. Without their ready help at all times there would be no magazine. These men along with Vir Den Mayo of McCormick-Armstrong Company and General Secretary Don Sherer, make a smooth running team.

For years The Numismatist reached its readers about the tenth or fifteenth of the month. That was normal. Then a few years back, after much discussion between the Advertising Manager, the printer and the Editor, a plan was devised to get the magazine to the readers about the first of the month. Extra work is involved and close timing is necessary, but we are proud that we are able to do a job which other periodicals with hundreds of professionals on their staffs might envy. Nor do I know of any other publication of comparable size and type which is published by a three-man, part-time crew.

For his work on our Diamond Jubilee story (see September issue) special mention should be made of our able and sincere historian, Jack W. Ogilvie. When he's not busy as a film editor in Hollywood, you can bet he is occupied with an A.N.A. project.

A number of significant articles were published in 1962, among them "Some New Facts About an Old American Coin — the 1804 Dollar" by David Spink and James Risk, "CSA Issues of 1861 in Panorama" by Philip Chase, "Financial History of Colonial Maryland" by Richard Hooper, "Numismatics and Education" by Col. Phares Sigler, "Medieval Iberian Coinages," by J. F. Lhotka and P. K. Anderson, "New or Recent Issues" by Ernst Kraus, etc.

A team effort produced a series of articles in the May, June and July numbers which were reprinted as a forty-eight page booklet called "Introduction to Numismatics." It is available for purchase from our Librarian in single copies or in quantities and is now going into second printing. Comments on it have been favorable and at the A.N.A. Board's direction a gratis copy is sent to each new member.

An adequate number of papers are on file, but many of them are long. Needed are good studies under two thousand words. Correspondence is, as always, growing; other activities in connection with or corollary to The Numismatist are also heavier.

May I express my gratitude to President Shroyer, the Board, all officers whether elected or appointed, contributors, and especially my wife, Jean, for their splendid assistance and cooperation at all times.

Respectfully submitted,

ELSTON G. BRADFELD,
Editor

REPORT OF THE ADVERTISING MANAGER

1962 - 1963

During the past year advertising revenue hit an all high record. Costs of production also established a record high. The circulation or distribution of The Numismatist now is in excess of 28,000. This means additional printing and mailing costs, but it also means an added coverage for our advertisers. We now have 134 contract advertisers which is also a record.

Complaints received during the past year have been minor in nature and few in number, and at this time no serious complaint remains unsatisfied.

I wish to express my appreciation to the contract advertisers who send in new copy each month, for their splendid coöperation in getting their advertising copy in to me by the fifth of the month deadline, and for the improvement in the preparation of their copy.

To the officers and governors of the A.N.A. I extend my sincere thanks for their encouraging words and their continued guidance. I am ever mindful of the coöperation I have always received from the Editor, Elston Bradfield, and from Vir Den Mayo, printer. Complete coördination between Editor, Printer and Advertising Manager must be maintained each month to get the magazine in the mails.

Respectfully submitted,

S. W. FREEMAN,
Advertising Manager

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

1962 - 1963

In the fiscal year 1962-1963 your librarian sent out a total of 4,582 books to 2,280 members. This is, of course, a new all time high. Our new catalog was a major factor in our record breaking year. The total could have been much greater had we been able to acquire duplicates of our popular volumes. This year betters our last year's record by 1,355 books. After a year of negotiations, we finally succeeded in getting a lower postage rate for our library material. As usual, my wife Bernie, was instrumental in making this a very successful year.

REPORT OF SLIDE CUSTODIAN

It has been the custom for the Chairman of Visual Education Committee to present the statistical data relating to the year's activity in his report. Therefore, this report will comment on a few other phases of the Slide Custodian's office. However, before doing so, it may be well to repeat the figures in the Visual Education Committee's report. With 786 showings of visual education material to clubs in 48 states and Canada, this was the biggest year in the Committee's history.

As Custodian, it was most gratifying to correspond with enthusiastic program chairmen eager to bring numismatic education to their members. The large number of showings in certain states are due in some measure to such sparkplugs as H. E. Ryan, Dorothy Humitsch, Earle D. Sherwood, Charles MacArthur and others who undertook to coördinate local club bookings in a geographic area and made the most efficient use of A.N.A. material. It is frequently my sad duty to notify a club secretary that I cannot supply a popular set of slides on U. S. coins for their next meeting just two weeks away. The popular sets are often scheduled months in advance. The unavailability of the U. S. type slides has its compensations, however. Sometimes a club, desperate for program material, will accept slides on other subjects and thus have numismatic information thrust upon them. It comes as a surprise to many collectors that Greek, Roman, Medieval and foreign subjects can be interesting, also.

The Slide Custodian has educational problems of his own, namely to convince some member clubs that borrowing slides is not quite the same as borrowing library books. Failure to return or forward slides promptly may result in a cancelled club program and a disappointed membership. It is regrettable that during the year there were several instances where this occurred.

Another problem relates to club program chairmen with limited experience in the use of visual education materials and who neglect to examine the slides and projector until the actual moment of the presentation of the program. They sometimes find that the slides do not fit the projector. Experienced program chairmen always conduct a trial run and are completely familiar with the equipment long before the meeting. One well known lecturer once made the comment that any one who would allow someone else to run his projector may as well let that person also read his speech to the audience.

Your comments, criticisms, and ideas for new material are most welcome. These are turned over to the Chairman of the Visual Education Committee for consideration. The increasing number of new slide sets attests to the fine work of this committee of outstanding numismatists.

Respectfully submitted,

MICHAEL M. DOLNICK,
Slide Custodian

REPORT OF THE EDWARD T. NEWELL VISUAL EDUCATION COMMITTEE

1962 - 1963

Your Visual Education Committee is highly pleased to report that in the fiscal year 1962-1963 there were 740 slide set showings, an increase of 134 over the previous year, and 46 showings of the 16 mm. black and white sound motion picture entitled "A Trip Through the Denver Mint," as compared with 38 showings last year. These figures represent our highest total to date. As in 1961-62, a large part of this increase can be attributed to the extra copies of slide sets that are now available. The Denver Mint film proved to be so popular that in 1963 two more copies were bought, bringing the total to four copies of this black and white sound motion picture. The number of showings this year compares with the last five years as follows:

1957-58	305 showings	1960-61	362 showings
1958-59	315 showings	1961-62	606 showings
1959-60	286 showings	1962-63	740 showings

A review of the data also indicates that the six most popular slide sets were:

2	Types of Commemorative Half Dollars.....	68 showings
17	Coins with Special Significance.....	67 showings
3A	U. S. Copper Coin Types.....	52 showings
25	Types of Regular Issue U. S. Gold Coins	44 showings
3B	U. S. Types, 3¢ Pieces Through 20¢.....	44 showings
1	Coins of Colonial America.....	42 showings

Clubs in the following states used the sets most:

Ohio	78 showings	Texas	50 showings
California	60 showings	Florida	49 showings
Pennsylvania	59 showings	Illinois	45 showings

The slide sets were shown in 48 of the 50 states and in Canada. In 1962-63, showings were made in Alaska, Rhode Island and Utah, three states that did not use the slide sets in 1961-62. It is hoped that clubs in Hawaii and Vermont will use the slide sets next year.

Your Committee wishes to congratulate Custodian of Slides Michael Dolnick for the excellent manner in which he has handled requests for slides. In addition, thanks are due him for his friendly coöperation and helpful advice at all times.

The sound tape prepared to accompany slide set 10, "Confederate States of America Currency" continues to be very popular. Seventeen of the thirty-seven showings of this slide set involved use of the sound tape.

Slide sets 26 and 27, "Crowns and Minor Commemorative Coins of the 19th and 20th Centuries Western Hemisphere—Parts I and II," have been enthusiastically received as was anticipated. The photographs of the coins (from his own collection) and the lecture notes are the work of Committee Member John Dunn.

Slide set 28, "Roman Republican Coinage," has been completed and is available for club showings. The set consists of 52 color photographs covering the period from the 3rd Century B.C. to the time of the first emperor. The various denominations and types are well illustrated. The lecture notes were written by Committee Member Dr. John F. Lhotka, Jr., who also supplied most of the coins to be photographed from his own collection.

At the present time your Committee has a number of projects under way, including slide sets on other foreign commemoratives and sound tapes for a number of sets. It is your committee's hope that, in due time, sound tapes to accompany all slide sets will be available. Because of the increased use of sound tapes and sound movies, your Committee wishes to recommend that the name be changed to the Edward T. Newell Audio-Visual Education Committee.

Cyrus H. Phillips, A.N.A. 10100, reports that the set of slides prepared for and on permanent loan to the Bank of America in California continues to be used by him in talks entitled "Historical Background of American Coinage." This program, given before schools and civic groups, is sponsored by the Bank of America as an educational service. Phillips's report for the period July 1, 1962, through June 30, 1963, is as follows:

Type of Group	Number of Showings	Total in Audience
Elementary and Jr. High Schools	58	17,970
Service Clubs	29	1,490
Grand Total	87	19,460

E. P. McRitchie, Vice President of the Bank of America, has asked that his "sincere thanks for the coöperation and valuable assistance rendered our program" be conveyed to the American Numismatic Association.

The financial report of the Committee is attached.

REPORT OF THE CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS

To the Board of Governors

American Numismatic Association:

We have examined the following financial statements of the American Numismatic Association:

All funds

Statement of fund assets (cash basis) as of June 30, 1963	Exhibit A
Statement of changes in fund balances for the year ended June 30, 1963	Exhibit B

Operating fund

Statement of cash revenues and expenses for the year ended June 30, 1963	Exhibit C

Building fund

Statement of cash revenues and expenses for the year ended June 30, 1963	Exhibit D

Trust funds

Statement of changes in fund balances for the year ended June 30, 1963	Exhibit E

Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The accounting records of the American Numismatic Association are maintained and the financial statements are prepared on the cash receipts and disbursements basis. Under this method, dues, advertising, subscriptions and other income items are recorded as revenue when received, regardless of the period to which they apply. Similarly, expenses are recorded on the books when paid, regardless of the period to which they apply. As a result of this method of accounting, there are no liabilities on the books for prepaid dues, prepaid advertising, accrued expenses or the unearned portion of yearly dues. Likewise, capital expenditures for equipment and additions to the coin collection are not recorded as assets.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly fund assets of the American Numismatic Association at June 30, 1963, and the changes in fund balances and the cash revenues collected and expenses paid for the year then ended, on the basis described in the preceding paragraph, which basis is consistent with that of the preceding year, except for classification of expenses.

REPORT OF THE PAPERS COMMITTEE

We are pleased to present the following papers which have been submitted to the Papers Committee:

- "The Lure of African Note Collecting" by Lcdr. J. E. Sandrock
- "Neutrons and Numismatics" by A. K. Craig
- "The Evolution of Numismatics" by D. Kendall Albert
- "Evolution of a Western Mint" by Terry Trantow
- "Joachim Murat, King of the Two Sicilies" by Dr. Feori F. Pipito
- "A Little Info on Ship Coins" by Roy Capitolo

We found each of the papers most interesting and of numismatic value. The topics of the authors were vastly different, obviously indicating that numismatics is a many faceted science. The committee is cognizant of the interest, study, and effort exhibited by those submitting papers and we wish to extend our appreciation.

We sincerely trust that greater interest may be cultivated and that in the future more persons will contribute papers and share with us their knowledge of numismatics. We would especially encourage the junior members to respond to the call for papers. The committee has forwarded all papers to the Editor, Elston G. Bradfield and takes this opportunity to thank him for his splendid counsel and coöperation.

OFFICIAL ELECTION REPORT

To the Board of Governors
American Numismatic Association

In accordance with your instructions, we (Troupe, Kehoe, Whiteaker & Kent, Certified Public Accountants) have tabulated the ballots for the 1963 election of officers of the American Numismatic Association. The circumstances under which our tabulation was conducted are summarized as follows: Ballots were printed and mailed to members upon our instructions by the McCormick-Armstrong Company, Wichita, Kansas, which company has accounted to us for all the ballot paper purchased, by number of ballots mailed, spoilage, and unused ballots. The ballots were prepared in such a manner that they were returned directly to us by the U.S. Post Office Department. The ballots were maintained under our control throughout the tabulation. We made no tabulation of uncontested offices, except to ascertain that at least one vote was cast for the candidate for each uncontested office. Ballots tabulated included all ballots received by us prior to midnight, July 24, 1963, and totalled approximately 10,700 in number. In addition, we received 1,493 ballots which clearly were not official ballots, and were not included in the tabulation.

The results of the tabulation follow:

For President:
P. K. Anderson	6,075
John J. Pittman	4,465
For (First) Vice President:

The principal responsibility of the committee is to assist survivors in planning the best course of action to provide maximum benefits. Another purpose of the committee is to prevent hasty disposal action by survivors during periods of stress and sorrow.

A balanced committee competent to serve in such an advisory capacity will include persons with a knowledge of law, banking, finance, psychology, social work, and estate planning. The committee will be qualified to advise from the legal, financial, and social aspects of the individual problem.

No member of the committee may benefit financially from the estate of any deceased member. Committee members may not make an offer to purchase nor recommend that coins be disposed of through any channel in which they have a financial interest. Only after the collection is finally placed for sale through a public channel may a committee member participate in the purchase in the same manner as any noncommittee member. Committee members may not consult individually with members of the bereaved family but in all instances shall function as a group.

An effort will be made to publicize the existence of this committee through the club bulletin and frequent public announcements. Members will be urged to let their families know of the existence of this committee and to point out to them that the committee's sole function is that of providing service to club members. If the estate of the deceased member is represented by an attorney, legal counsel for the committee will be available to work cooperatively with the counsel for the estate.

As has been the custom, the secretary will write a letter of condolence to the family of the deceased member. Along with this letter, the secretary will point out the services that this committee has to offer and encourage the family to contact the committee chairman, Harold R. Klein, First National Bank of Hinsdale, Hinsdale, Ill., for help in the event that they feel that they do not already have this type of assistance available to them. The committee chairman will be responsible for notifying the other committee members and following through on all requests for assistance.

MONONGAH, W. VA. TOKENS AND SCRIP

By

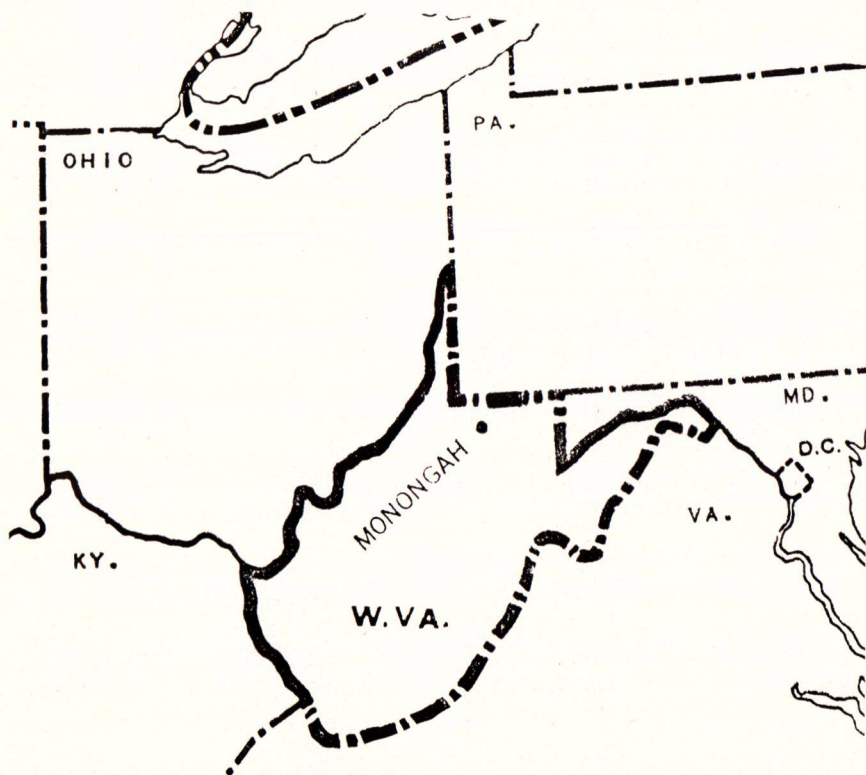

JACK F. BURNS, A.N.A. No. 9944

THE town of Monongah is located in northern West Virginia. It was built on the site of a pioneer village originally named Briartown which Captain James Booth established in 1768. On September 12, 1891, it was incorporated as the town of Monongah, taking its name from the river in the locality, the Monongahela. It is the third largest town in Marion County and is approximately five miles WSW of Fairmont, the county seat.

Marion County, situated in the lower Appalachian Coal Region, at one time was the leading county of the nation in the production of highgrade bituminous coal. Many of the mines were in the immediate vicinity of Monongah. In 1890 United States Senator Johnson Newlon Camden of Parkersburg organized the Monongah Coal Company and opened the first mine in Monongah. At the same time he built the first railroad to connect Fairmont and Clarksburg. This line passed through Monongah.

Following this, more extensive mining operations in the area were carried on by the Fairmont Coal and Coke Company which was formed in 1901 by the Watson family of Fairmont. In 1903 this company became part of the Consolidation Coal Company which, until recently has operated all of the large mines in the vicinity of Monongah. The industry continued to expand to the point where a total of five large mines employing some four thousand miners were in operation. All of these were located in Monongah or within a two mile radius. It was here in the largest of these mines (No. 6 and No. 8, connected with separate portals) an explosion occurred on December 6, 1907, and 361 miners were killed, the worst mine disaster in the history of the United States.

Large scale mining operations in this area continued until late in 1920, reaching peak production during World War I. Throughout this period Monongah served as the commercial center for the surrounding area. The miners, their families and other residents did all of their shopping and celebrating, and carried on other business transactions in Monongah.

The largest enterprise in the town was the company store. This store, which was opened in 1896, provided the multitude of miners with all of their food, clothing, furniture, tools and other goods and necessities. In addition, there were grocery stores, meat markets, a department store, barber shops, restaurants, hotels and other retail establishments operated by private merchants. A bank was in operation to provide financial services. At the opera house many famous entertainers appeared and at one time there were five saloons within two blocks. It is said that Monongah was a "rip-roaring" town.

During this period of commercial activity scrip and tokens issued both by the coal mining company and by private merchants played an important role in the economy of the town. These were used as the media of exchange by which much of the business was conducted. In fact, such media at one time were more in evidence than United States cash. The following listing sets forth information concerning the origin, use and other details for cataloging the various types of these media which were once used in this coal mining town.

then opening their mines in remote and sparsely populated areas. Here in these mine camps and newly developed company towns it was difficult and sometimes impossible to obtain a steady flow of United States cash. By necessity the companies issued their own scrip to meet the mine payrolls and other cash requirements. In such areas it also was necessary for the companies to provide the miners with the necessities of everyday living. Consequently, the companies opened stores and the company scrip was used by the miners as the medium to make their purchases. Even after conditions improved through better roads, expansion of the railroad lines and more effective communications, the companies continued to use the system as a convenience to hold their actual cash needs to a minimum.

In later years the companies continued to operate their stores but the use of scrip to meet the payrolls was discontinued and the miners were paid in actual cash. From that time on the scrip was used primarily to pay the miners an advance on their wages earned prior to the regular payday. It was intended that the scrip should be used to make purchases only at the store operated by the particular company which had issued it. Even so, it was a common practice for the miners to exchange their scrip for merchandise at other stores or sell it for cash, in either case at a discounted rate. It is understood that the common discount rate was 75¢ for the dollar in Monongah and in some of the other areas the rate was as low as 50¢.

The first such scrip for use in the company store in Monongah was issued in 1896. This scrip in "punch card" form was designed and printed to specify a total monetary amount with portions of this total indicated so they could be punched out for use as a medium of exchange. They were issued in total amounts of $1.00, $2.00, $3.00 and $5.00 with consecutive punch amounts of $.01 up to the total amount. To control their issuance the scrip was numbered and space was provided for recording the name of the miner to whom the scrip was issued and the signature of the company official as the issuer; each store clerk had his own punch design as his identification for punching the scrip when making sales. Paper scrip continued to be used until replaced by metal tokens.

Examples of the scrip issued by the Consolidation Coal Company for use in the Monongah store are illustrated in Figure 1 and are described as follows: $3.00 - 6 3/8" x 3 3/8", white paper, 16 lb. No. 2 sulphite bond paper, plain reverse. $5.00 - 6 3/8" x 4 1/4", goldenrod color, 16 lb. No. 4 sulphite paper, plain reverse.

In 1923 the Consolidation Coal Company first issued metal tokens. They were in denominations of 1¢, 5¢, 10¢, 25¢, 50¢ and $1.00 in round and octagonal shapes, some with cutouts. The tokens were supplied by both the Insurance Credit System, Dayton, Ohio, and the Osborn Register Co. (ORCO), Cincinnati, Ohio. They appeared in brass, copper, copper-nickel; during World War II a fiber material was used. The use of tokens was discontinued in 1947; after that time the miners either paid cash at the company store or had charge accounts which were settled by payroll deductions.

The following is a listing of all of the varieties of tokens which have been located to date issued by the Consolidation Coal Company for use in the Monongah store. Several of these, as indicated, are illustrated in Figure 2.

In the early 1930s the Consolidation Coal Company went through a period of reorganization. During that time tokens were issued by the company both under a receivership and trusteeship management for use in the Monongah store. Examples of these tokens are described as follows:

MERCHANT TOKENS — MEAT MARKETS

From 1896 until 1929 the company store in Monongah did not provide for the sale of meats. During these years, so that the miners could purchase meat on a credit basis, the coal company entered into an arrangement with one of the local independent meat market operators.

This system of exchange operated in the following manner. The miner who wished to purchase meat obtained a "meat order" from the paymaster. The order was a paper form made out in triplicate. Two copies were retained by the coal mining company, one to be used as the authorization to deduct the amount from the miner's next pay, the other served as a record of the amount due the meat market. The third copy was given to the miner to be used for his purchase at the meat market; later, after the exchange, this copy was submitted by the merchant and redeemed by the company in cash. Metal tokens issued by the meat market operator also played an important part in these transactions. If the miner did not spend the full amount of his "meat order" initially, he was given these metal tokens in an amount which was equal to the difference between the order and his initial purchase. Later the miner would spend the tokens for other meat purchases.

There were three independent meat market operators who, consecutively, took part in this method of distribution. Not much information could be found concerning the first merchant except that his name was Hendon and his market was in a frame building located in back of the company store. About 1900 he sold out to the second merchant, W. H. Manly, who operated the market in the same location until 1910. Then the third merchant, F. K. Lowe, opened a market directly across the street from the company store and continued to supply meat to the miners until 1929. At that time the arrangement was discontinued as the coal company set up its own facilities for selling meats, enabling the miners to obtain their supplies from the company store by using company scrip or tokens.

A total of six varieties of these tokens issued by two of the merchants have been found. No doubt others were issued. Those which have been located are illustrated in Figure 3 and are described as follows:

MERCHANT TOKENS - L. M. KUHN, GROCERY STORE

L. M. Kuhn operated a grocery store from 1901 until 1921 on Main St. in Monongah. He carried a general line of groceries, vegetables and other foodstuffs; also livestock feed and gasoline. The gasoline was stored in fifty gallon barrels and, unlike today's drive-in service stations, his customers brought their own containers into the store to be filled. In addition, he operated the town's post office which was located in the front of the store. In this section there were mail boxes where the residents picked up their mail, stamps were sold, packages were weighed for parcel post shipment and other general post office functions were performed.

Grocery and other merchandise purchases were made on both cash and credit basis. The majority of his customers consisted of farmers and other residents in the area who did not work in the mines. However, some miners, those not too deeply indebted to the coal company, who had cash or were eligible to receive credit, also made purchases.

For credit transactions Kuhn issued and utilized a series of metal tokens in several denominations. An individual who was eligible for credit and who was desirous of making credit purchases was allotted a quantity of these tokens equal to the amount of the credit extended. The customer then exchanged the tokens at the store to meet his needs for groceries and other merchandise. The advantage and of course the purpose of utilizing this system was that it relieved Kuhn of a great deal of record keeping operations. He merely recorded the total amount of credit extension for each customer and the total payments against this charge. It was not necessary to maintain detailed records of each individual purchase by his many credit customers. In addition, the tokens were used in making change for both credit and cash customers, which further increased the volume in circulation.

Examples of these tokens that were issued and used are illustrated in Figure 4 and are described as follows:

MISCELLANEOUS TOKENS AND SCRIP

The company store made wholesale purchases of vegetables, fruit and other produce from the local farmers. A special paper scrip was issued and used as payment for these products. The scrip was negotiable and was used by the farmers in exchange for other merchandise stocked in the store. No examples of this type of scrip have been located to date.

Those miners who performed the blasting operations in the mines at one time had to pay for the explosives which they used. As a safety precaution the explosives were stored in a separate and isolated warehouse. A system of exchange was in operation whereby these payments were made, first by the use of paper scrip in "punch card" form and later by tokens. Both of these media were especially designed for this purpose. The miner obtained the scrip or tokens from the paymaster for the amount of explosives needed. A record was made so that the monetary amount could be handled as a payroll deduction. The miner then presented the scrip or tokens to the attendant at the storage warehouse and received the quantity of explosives required.

The token illustrated in Figure 5 is one of the types used for this purpose and is described as follows:

As mining activities declined and mines were being closed, the character of Monongah gradually changed and it has since become a different type of town. Most of the houses which were originally built and rented out by the company were sold to individuals during 1943. Since then they have been remodeled and made more attractive so that now they do not have the appearance of "company houses." Many original business establishments have been closed. The last mine was shut down in 1961. Correspondingly, commercial activities have greatly diminished.

Today Monongah is a quiet, clean, law abiding residential town. Many retired miners make their homes there; most of the remaining eligible workers drive to Fairmont or other nearby towns for employment. Even though less commercialized, it is a progressive town. It has a new community building where the town's social activities are centered. It owns the water company and sells water to the other nearby towns, and it has just completed a modern sewage disposal plant. Two years ago the modern thirty bed Saint Barbara's Nursing Home was built as a memorial to the miners killed in the 1907 explosion.

The busiest day now is the first of the month when the Social Security and miners' pension checks are received and cashed. Now many of the retired miners are handling more U.S. cash than during their working days. In the old days they were using scrip and tokens, their rent, doctor bills and other expenses were settled by payroll deductions, many were greatly indebted to the company—they seldom saw any actual cash. Today "scrip" and "tokens" have been forgotten and it is practically impossible to locate examples of these media in the town where they were used almost exclusively for many years.

(Appreciation is expressed to P. D. Forte, who is a pharmacist in Monongah. It was through his kindness and assistance in supplying the information concerning the use of tokens and scrip that the preparation of this article was made possible. All of the tokens and scrip which are described and illustrated are from his personal collection.)

THOSE 1493 "BALLOTS"

This year, with practically every A.N.A. office and all governorships hotly contested, everything possible was done to keep the election honest. Elaborate preparations, including the use of special security paper, carefully planned distribution and return of the voters' ballots to an auditing firm, paid off with the relatively easy discovery of 1493 imitation ballots. Thus the will of the voters was registered, much to the dismay of the man or men who were apparently intent on stealing the election.

So a tip of the hat to those who worked hard to bring about this honest election—our Executive Secretary, our Printer, our Auditing firm, and the far-sighted Board which authorized the effort. We are quite pleased, thank you, that those 1493 ballots were never counted. We have hope that the 1965 election may have even more formidable safeguards, if possible.

The new A.N.A. Board on Sunday following the Denver convention met and unanimously agreed to do everything it could to bring the culprits to bay. If any reader has information that might be useful, please send it to President Anderson. — EGB

A.N.A. Opposes Coin Reproductions

At both the business meeting and Board sessions at the Denver convention, the American Numismatic Association took a strong stand on coin copies, restrikes, reproductions and counterfeits with the adoption of a resolution, text of which follows:

RESOLUTION X

COUNTERFEITS, COPIES, RESTRIKES, AND REPRODUCTIONS

WHEREAS it is the policy of this Association to oppose as detrimental to the advancement of numismatics, the production and sale of counterfeits, copies, restrikes and reproductions of coins, medals, tokens, paper money and other numismatic items, if their nature is not clearly indicated by the word counterfeit, copy, restrike, or reproduction incused in the metal or printed on the paper used for such item, with the exception of items produced prior to 1933 which are generally accepted by numismatists and not in any way misrepresented as genuine.

RESOLVED that the sale, exhibit, or advertising of such unmarked items is prohibited at all the Association's functions and in its publications.

FURTHER RESOLVED that any intentional violations of the policy of this Resolution by a member of the Association shall be sufficient grounds for censure, suspension or expulsion from the Association by the Board of Governors as provided in Article III, Section 3 of the Bylaws.

The purpose of this resolution was to help prevent, so far as possible, fraudulent and deceptive practices in buying, selling, advertising and exhibiting false coins and other numismatic items. It provides a means whereby those guilty of such practices may be censured, suspended or expelled from the A.N.A. It is hoped that the firm position taken by the A.N.A. in this matter will go a long way toward stopping the production and sale of forgeries and imitations which threaten to engulf numismatics as a result of rapid advances made in the scientific techniques for their manufacture.

It has become increasingly difficult for unsuspecting collectors without skill and experience in detecting false coins to recognize such fabrications. An increasing number of victims are being swindled by unscrupulous individuals who seek to profit by trafficking in false coins.

VERMONT STATEHOOD MEDAL

Vermont is honored in the seventh of the Statehood Art medal series, according to an announcement by Presidential Art Medals, Inc., P.O. Box 187, Englewood, Ohio. This medal will be struck in pure platinum (25 @ $500 each, serially numbered); pure silver (7,500 @ $10 each, serially numbered); bronze (unlimited @ $2.50).

REPORT ON REAGAN FOUNDATION

At a meeting of the Board of the Lewis M. Reagan Memorial Foundation, Inc., during the A.N.A. Denver convention, President Sol Kaplan reported on the progress of the last year. As of July 29, contributions totaled $12,373.51 with interest of $223.83. The total reached $12,787.15 with the transfer to the Foundation of $189.81 from the Burton H. Saxton fund set up by the Professional Numismatists Guild. There have been no expenditures of any kind from the fund, all administrative costs being borne by PNG.

Drawing on the interest accumulated, however, two awards have been set up, Kaplan said. One honors the late Robert Friedberg and will be given for the best article on U. S. paper money, fractional currency, encased postage stamps or foreign gold. The other award will go to the junior best in show at an A.N.A. convention.

The Reagan Foundation was established to perpetuate the memory of the late Lewis M. Reagan, long time General Secretary of the American Numismatic Association. Contributions may be sent to the Foundation, 1201 Federal Reserve Bank Bldg., Cincinnati 2, Ohio.

NOTES & QUERIES

A.N.A. Income and Outgo

Among the many matters considered by the Board of Governors in four long sessions during the Denver convention was that of keeping the Association in sound financial condition. By careful watch over expenditures, it has been possible to live within our income, but rising costs have brought us close to the point of operating in the red.

In keeping with the bylaws and the expressed desire of many members, a new membership directory is being prepared. The current directory, issued in 1960, was compiled and printed on a minimum cost basis and has proved very unsatisfactory. It is presently estimated that the cost of a suitable directory will be somewhat in excess of $30,000. Since over four hundred pages will be required, the new directory will contain the alphabetical listing in one volume and the geographic listing in another. Although advertising will be sold in this publication, its net cost presents a serious financial problem.

The Board, therefore, voted to increase the annual dues from $5 (effective since January 1, 1949) to $6 as of January 1, 1964. The admission fee, in addition to the first year's dues for new members, is to remain at $5, but the nonmember subscription to The Numismatist will become $7.50, and the single copy price will become 75¢.

There's Money in Music

Money and music joined hands again in an exhibit that ran from August 6 to September 17 at the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum in Rockefeller Center, New York City. The exhibit, called "There's Money in Music," displayed sheet music of popular songs mentioning money. Such songs as "I've Got Five Dollars" from the 1931 Rogers and Hart musical "America's Sweetheart," and "Pennies From Heaven" from the 1936 movie starring Bing Crosby, and "The Money Tree" co-existed with a $5 bill, a sampling of pennies and a real Malayan money tree.

The exhibit was produced in cooperation with the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and featured twenty-seven copies of sheet music dating back to 1930. Other titles and money items included "Ten Cents a Dance," from the 1930 Ziegfeld musical starring Ed Wynn, "The President on the Dollar," "Jimmy Had a Nickel," and "Baubles, Bangles and Beads," with a dime, a dollar bill, a nickel and a collection of bangles and beads.

The song titles were illustrated by coins or bills from the museum's collection of 75,000 items. "In some cases, we used a coin or bill of the same period as the song," a museum spokesman said. "We hit a snag with a couple of songs, however," he continued. "For example, we simply were not able to match the currency in Billy Rose's hit 'I Found a Million Dollar Baby in a 5 and 10 Cent Store.' The Money Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

Copies and Replicas Opposed

The Editor has recently received notices of actions by a number of clubs and other numismatic organizations in opposition to the issuing of copies and replicas of authentic coins and medals. There are some variations in the forms and wording of these resolutions, but their intents are all the same—to discourage the manufacture and sale of such items unless clearly and permanently identified as copies or replicas. Many organizations prohibit the sale and exhibition of unmarked copies at their meetings and shows. Some go so far as to name one of the producers of "fake" items, and to condemn its continuation of the practice.

Space does not permit publishing all of the resolutions received, but the following organizations are among those who have requested that The Numismatist publicize their actions: Asheville (N. C.) Coin Club, Chicago Coin Club, Delaware Valley Coin Club of New Jersey, Heart of America Numismatic Assn. (Kansas City), Numismatic Assn. of Southern California, Pacific Coast Numis. Society, Philadelphia Coin Club, Philadelphia Electric Co. Coin Club, Red Rose Coin Club (Lancaster, Pa.).

RCDA to Convene in Reno

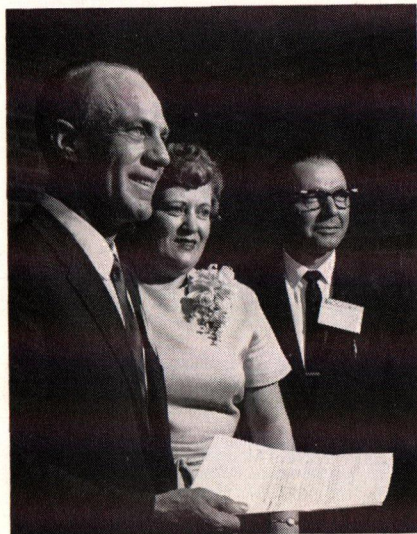

With the Northern Nevada Numismatic Association as host, the Retail Coin Dealers Association will hold its first national convention in Reno, Nevada, June 4-7, 1964. It is expected that at least half of the Association's five hundred leading retail coin dealers will attend the affair, which will have headquarters in the Nevada State Building. Those who attend this major coin event will be able to enjoy some of the celebration of Nevada's Centennial of Statehood, also. Information regarding the bourse, commercial exhibits, accommodations, registration, etc. may be obtained from the Northern Nevada Numismatic Association, P. O. Box 5296, Reno, Nevada.

MOON Elects Officers

Charter members of the newly organized upper midwest Minnesota Organization of Numismatists (MOON) gathered during the recent Austin coin convention to elect officers and to draw up a constitution and bylaws. Heading the slate of officers is Jay D. Swift, 2729 Colfax Ave., South, Minneapolis.

"We want to show all collectors that there is so much more to being a coin collector than just placing coins in a holder or making a fat profit on a coin," Swift told the group. "Too much emphasis is being placed on the value of the coin, dollar-wise, and not nearly enough on its value as a tool of numismatics.

To me, this is the greatest weakness of our hobby," he continued. "I would like to see a campaign to encourage the young to embrace the hobby. This will necessitate a great amount of effort but in time it can be accomplished."

In addition to Swift, who is also President of the Northwest Coin Club of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Gail Wilkerson, Anoka, was chosen Vice President, and Mrs. Rita Janecka, Minneapolis, was elected secretary-treasurer. Three-year directors are Roland W. Finner, J. Mortimer Pugh and Charles Robinson. Elected to serve two-year terms are Arthur F. Giere, Marvin D. Maas and Niels C. Nielsen. One-year members of the board are Earl A. Breault, Julius A. Kurtz and Edward M. Spiegeler. With seventy-two charter members in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Canada, MOON is planning its 1964 annual meeting in conjunction with a spring coin convention.

Daniel Boone Festival Medal

Again this year the Daniel Boone Festival will be held in Barbourville, Kentucky, October 10-12. In addition to the usual Indians, antique shows, athletic contests and a big parade, this year will see a "shoot-out" between Pennsylvania and Kentucky flintlock shooters. Pennsylvania has challenged the Commonwealth of Kentucky because of its alleged claim to the name of the long rifle. Just as Blue Grass and Bourbon are symbols of Kentucky, so is the long rifle.

Medals will be issued for the Festival, featuring Daniel Boone holding his "Kentucky Rifle" on the obverse. On the reverse is an outline of the State, with a representation of the Dr. Thomas Walker cabin and a star locating Barbourville within the outline. Golden bronze and oxidized bronze medals are available now at 75¢ and $1.50 respectively. Silver medals, limited to 500, will be available immediately following the "shoot-out" at $6.00 each, serially numbered. Address all correspondence to: Daniel Boone Medals, c/o Dr. Harold Bushey, Barbourville Clinic, Barbourville, Ky.

Biblical Coins Exhibited

Dr. Arthur F. Giere, Galesville, Wis., exhibited coins of the Bible at the Winona Hotel, Winona, Miss., and addressed a large group of the International Rotary Club assembled there August 13.

Arkansas Society Met in Pine Bluff

The Arkansas Numismatic Society held its second quarterly meeting August 17-18 at the Holiday Inn in Pine Bluff with the local chapter of the Society as host. It attracted more than 2,000 members and visitors. Elmo Jehlen, Bourse Chairman, reported there were thirty dealers from Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Tennessee, Texas, California, and Arkansas. An auction session was held each day of the meeting.

There were two competitive events during the two day meeting. Mrs. Hazel Lindstrom of Pine Bluff won a $50 award for her sketch of a seal or symbol for the state Society. Mrs. Lindstrom's sketch was one of 28 submitted from throughout the state for judging. The award was presented by Dr. Randle Luten, Jr., outgoing President of the Society. In the second event, Dr. Harold Morris and Bill Sanders of Pine Bluff took first place for their coin displays. Dr. Morris displayed Colonial era coins and Sanders showed coins in circulation during Biblical days. Robert Burgess of Little Rock won second place for most unusual and Lindy Lindstrom won third place for his small currency display.

The officers for 1964 were installed by A.N.A. First Vice President Matt Rothert of Camden. They are President (Mrs.) Nina Willis of Little Rock; Vice President Byron Wilson of Monticello; Secretary Mrs. Hazel Lindstrom of Pine Bluff; and Treasurer Pete Steck of Searcy. New district representatives are Dr. Harland Blaine of Conway and Carl Lounsberry of Hardy. Tommy Brown of Hot Springs and Harold Pless of Little Rock are the new members of the Board of Governors. Retiring President Dr. Luten was presented with a certificate which makes him an official "Arkansas Traveler." — WILLIAM SANDERS

Shop Talk

Lalji Ramji, stamp and coin dealer of Tanganyika (A.N.A. No. 4663) says he sincerely regrets any inconvenience to his customers occasioned by his recent illness. He has recovered, and resumed his normal business activities.

"Relics and Numismatics"

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

I read with amusement the article by Herbert Shaner on page 934 of the July issue, entitled "Relics and Numismatics."

Would you please inform your readers, and Mr. Shaner, that there is "no such animal" as a "rare Idler Washington 50¢ copper with ornamented edges."

Mr. Shaner's point is well taken, about numismatic knowledge, but he is apparently confused himself. An "Idler copy," of the Washington half dollar, is listed by Baker as No. 544, and by Dick Kenney, on page 6, of his "Struck Copies of Early American Coins." All of the Idler copies have plain edges. The only rare one is the silver piece. The original Peter Getz pattern Washington half dollars, dated 1792, were ably written up by Walter Breen, in his "The U. S. Patterns of 1792." Both the last and the Kenney publication, were part of the Coin Collectors Journal series by Wayne Raymond, and are still in print.

In summary, Mr. Shaner should not confuse an original coin struck and dated in 1792, and a replica made sixty-seven years later for sale to collectors. — JOHN J. FORD, JR.

More Details of OKNA Convention

Supplementing its report of the OKNA Convention in the September issue, the Oklahoma City Coin Club, host, announces other important features of the October 11-13 affair. Dealers and exhibitors will be pleased with a security room that will have 24-hour guard service from noon Thursday through noon Friday, and on Sunday if necessary. Believing that the risk of loss is chiefly in transportation and not in the exhibit and bourse rooms, each dealer and exhibitor is expected to provide his own insurance coverage. The bourse dealers are invited to be the Club's guests at a breakfast Saturday at 7:30 a.m.

Tours are being planned to the Oklahoma Historical Society Building, the Planetarium and other points of interest. On Saturday evening there will be a discussion forum, with John W. Dunn and Richard S. Yeoman as speakers. The annual business meeting will be held Sunday morning, followed by the dinner Sunday noon. Awards will be presented, new officers introduced, and the business meeting reported at the dinner. Priced at only $3.50, a good meal is promised for this social event. Registration at $1 will be required for admission to the auction, educational forum, business and dinner meetings; but the exhibits and bourse will be open to all without charge.

Remember the dates, October 11-13, and the place, Sheraton-Oklahoma Hotel (formerly the Biltmore) in Oklahoma City.

Coin Collector Defines Rarity

The following letter was recently received by Whitman Publishing Co., from Mel Roher, New York City collector, and is reproduced here because it clearly defines this complex situation:

"During the past several days I have run across more examples of how some dealers confuse two diverse situations. Many of them confuse: a. A coin which is available in great numbers, with b. A coin which is very scarce and only available in very limited quantity—sometimes, close to 'rare,' but for which there is but very little demand.

"I have been running across this mixup for many years. Thus, frequently, a dealer (or a collector) will say, regarding a given coin, 'It's common,' meaning, in fact, 'it is easily available at the present moment.'

"The two situations are not the same—far from it. In the first case there may be, let us say, one million of the coins still available to a collector. In the second case there may be but two hundred still available, but the number of collectors interested in that field may not be more than fifty.

"Thus in case 'b,' the coin is just as easy to get as in case 'a.' With this difference—the slightest serious increase in interest in the field of 'b' will quickly produce a real shortage with corresponding great increase in price!

"I recall a fine dealer who, some years ago, assured me that the 1858 20¢ piece of Canada was 'common'; he had about four of them and knew where many more were. (The catalog price at that time was about $8.00 in unc.).

"He was wrong. What he really meant was that at that time there was little demand for this particular coin. And a very modest increase in demand soon proved this!" — Whitman Coin Supply Merchandiser, Aug.-Sept., 1963.

International Numismatic Society

The International Numismatic Society of San Diego, newly affiliated with A.N.A., installed its 1963-64 officers at its July 31 meeting. They are: President John A. Gardner, Vice President Ed Beals, Corresponding Secretary Jeanne Martin, Treasurer Aage Andersen, and Directors Herbert H. Hood, R. E. Martin and M. H. Monroe.

J. A. Gardner

INSSD was organized in June as an international group, with the proviso that no material could be bought, sold or displayed on club premises if minted within the United States for domestic use. Since January, INSSD has published an illustrated offset twelve-page magazine, Intercoin, strictly for collectors of foreign items. Edited by Maurice A. Weekley, the publication features noteworthy articles researched from multiple sources, and has had some timely numismatic firsts, including initial listing of large Mexican centavos, first Peruvian crown variety listing, and sources in country of issue for uncirculated coins.

Proclaimed by many members and other leading numismatists as the world's best publication by a local society, Intercoin is mailed free to a membership of 195 on five continents. Sample copies are obtainable by mailing ten cents to Secretary Jeanne Martin, 8316 Lake Ben Ave., San Diego, Calif., 92119, U.S.A. In addition to its regular meetings the last Wednesday each month, INSSD has adopted the goal of stimulating and integrating international numismatics by whetting the appetite of the collector for detailed, informative coverage of foreign numismatics, much in the fashion of coverage of U. S. material by The Numismatist for years. To this end, the Society plans to affiliate with organizations of other countries, and to exchange with them publications and other reference material for the expansion of their respective libraries.

Neutron Activation

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

I read with great interest the article by Alan K. Craig, A.N.A. 10211, in the August issue of The Numismatist. Neutron activation analysis was used many years ago to determine the impurities remaining in a zone-refined piece of germanium.

Then and now neutron activation analysis can be performed on a slice of the material in question. Did our author not realize, that the artificially induced radioactivity of an element goes through a half-life ($t_{1/2}$ -period of rate of radioactive decay during which is the time necessary for one-half of an initial quantity of radioactive substance to disintegrate) during its self destruction and even though in some cases it may be admitting radiation from which we can easily shield ourselves, it is nevertheless, admitting radiation?

In the case of some elements the time for this decay to take place may be from microseconds (in this case it would be unmeasurable) to a hundred or more years. Guaranteed, the collector would know his coin to be genuine but he would be afraid to examine it for many years for fear of radioactive exposure.

CHARLTON ON TV

On a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation coast to coast TV show August 12, J. E. Charlton, (center), widely known coin dealer, was interviewed by Toby Tarnow (right). The producer of the program was Paddy Sampson (left).

Let me propose a slightly different method to accomplish the same analysis. A method I have been experimenting with for the possibility of serving as a powerful ultrasensitive tool against counterfeit coins. This method is also nondestructive but uses x-rays for a source and when the coin has been examined, the finished coin is not radioactive in the slightest degree.

The method I speak of is called an x-ray fluorescence study. As one knows an excited atom or molecule can emit radiation and is said to be undergoing fluorescence. An example is the fluorescent paints which fluoresce when exposed to ultra-violet radiation.

In the above case the coin is mounted and subjected to an x-ray source such as Cu K α radiation. The penetration of the x-ray source for each major element depends on the source excitor used. Although the x-ray may in some cases only penetrate 0.002 inch, this is sufficient to scan the coin for the trace impurities that determine the genuine coin from the counterfeit.

After scanning, the coin may be turned over and the reverse scanned. Scanning time is approximately ten minutes per side. To cite an example, a question was raised concerning the validity of a 1943-D "copper"(?) cent. This coin was circulated and had a B-D rating of VF. The coin showed no response to magnetic attraction, and when examined at 525 times under an optical microscope showed no deviation from an uncirculated 1942-D cent.

Dare we think this coin genuine? We submitted this coin to x-ray fluorescence and compared its trace impurities to ten 1942-D (unc.) and ten 1944-D (unc.) cents. Although the variations of impurities in the 1942-D pieces were far from slight, a lack of three essential trace impurities associated with the 1942-D cent convinced us of the nonauthenticity of this coin.

I think and agree with author Alan Craig in suggesting that coins be analyzed nondestructively and cataloged as are new molecules by infrared analysis. I would suggest, however, that a new independent method to check the findings of neutron activation analysis be used. Maybe, x-ray fluorescence?

BOOK REVIEWS

Standard Catalogue of Canadian Coins, Tokens, and Paper Money* by J. E. Charlton, Whitman Publishing Company, Racine, Wis., 1963, twelfth edition, board covers, 128 pp., illus., $1.00 ($1.35 in Canada)

Jim Charlton, Whitman, and twenty-five contributors have teamed up to publish the dozenth edition of a coin book which enjoys great popularity in North America. We do not know how the sales of this Canadian book are divided between the two countries, but evidence of the interest in Canadian coins in the United States is proved by the fact that nearly a third of the members of the Canadian Numismatic Association have U.S.A. addresses.

Most of the "bugs" were eliminated from this book in the earlier editions, so we don't expect to find drastic changes in new issues. However, in addition to important price changes, there are other improvements in this twelfth edition. Perhaps the most helpful one is the inclusion of special guides to grading each type of modern coin on the page where its date and price listings are shown.

Among the early coinages and tokens, which comprise almost the first half of the book, price changes from the previous book are relatively few and quite moderate. But when one looks into the decimal coins of 1858 to date, he will be in for some surprises unless he is already well informed on the entire series. With rather few exceptions, prices are up from one-fourth to double the previous listing. Comparing unc. prices of coins in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth editions, here are a few samples of what we found: 1953 cent with shoulder straps — $1, $7.50, $20; 1858 twenty-cents — $40, $125, $225; 1911 quarter — $26, $50, $250; 1932 half dollar — $250, $400, $550.

If prices are an index of interest in certain items and series, we see that silver dollars and paper money are becoming more popular. Prices of these show marked increases as compared to the previous two years. It probably won't surprise anyone that the 1947 maple leaf dollar has advanced from $70 to $125, but some others gained even more. The 1945 dollar is now $65 as compared to $30 a year ago, and the 1948 has advanced to $175 from only $80.

The author and the publisher are to be congratulated in offering so much valuable and up to date information on an increasingly popular numismatic series, and in holding the price to where the book is available to all collectors. — GLENN S.

Numismatic Flying Eagle, Indian and Lincoln Cent Errors* by Michael Kolman Jr., 1963, rev. ed., Cleveland, Ohio, $2.50.

This is a revision of Kolman's Numismatic Lincoln Cent Errors which appeared in 1960. The revision is an expanded version of the earlier volume which treated Lincoln cent errors only. Kolman's latest work covers Flying Eagle and Indian cent errors, in addition to bringing Lincoln cent material up to date.

Author Kolman says that he has been engaged in studying small cent errors for over twenty years, and has personally collected, or examined most of the specimens described in the book. Along with detailed descriptions of errors, estimated market values are given.

Included in the book is the Kolit position gauge for determining the degree which cents have been struck off center. Kolman formulated this gauge along with Dr. Jack Litman of Akron, Ohio.

Kolman has spoken widely on mint error collecting before coin clubs and coin conventions across the nation. He has also written many articles on this phase of numismatics. He is one of the founders of the Collectors of Mint Errors and edits the C.O.M.E. Bulletin. Numismatic Flying Eagle, Indian, and Lincoln Cent Errors may be obtained from coin dealers. — ROBERT OBOJSKI

Major Variety and Oddity Guide* by Frank G. Spadone, second ed., pub. by the author, East Orange, N. J., 100 pp., 1963, illus., $2.00.

Every writer is entitled to a few peccadillos. Typo or scrivener errors, plate snafus, etc., always seem to crop up in any large and comprehensive work, and generally take a second edition to work themselves out. There is another kind of error, however, which is more culpable, and that is the sort that misleads collectors as to the status or values of coins.

A Mobile, Ala., correspondent recently called my attention to one rather serious such error in Frank Spadone's Major Oddity and Variety Guide. My subsequent reading of the book revealed numerous others — hence, the necessity of this review. Spadone, a professional numismatist and by his own words “a publisher and editor of numismatic periodicals since 1955,” should be aware of the very elementary fact that counterfeit coins are illegal to possess, much less to sell. Yet, on page 52, he lists a counterfeit 1923-D dime in two conditions, priced at $300 and $600. He calls this coin “unauthorized,” which may, in his own mind, mean the same thing as “counterfeit,” but this impression is not likely to be conveyed to novice collectors, especially when accompanied by ostensible market prices.

Similarly, the 1833 “Copper-nickel 3/3 Crude Date possible practice piece” listed and illustrated on page 61, and priced incredibly from $75 to $2,500 is also a counterfeit. The struck forgery half dollars dated in the 1830s are extremely common, and not in the least deceptive. I have listed a round dozen of them (Spadone's may be Fig. 21) in my Counterfeit, Misstruck and Unofficial U. S. Coins.

The author lists 1943 bronze cents from three mints, and at prices ranging from $40,000 to $50,000, which are considerably higher than the highest public sales record of any U. S. coin. Yet, he specifically states in his foreword that the prices are meant as “general values accepted by collectors and dealers throughout the country.” To this he adds that he “doesn't solicit to buy or sell any items enclosed.” The facts remain, however, that no 1943 bronze cent has ever sold publicly for more than around $1,000, and that Spadone claims to own the only complete set of these coins.

As for the 1943 bronze cents themselves, I would like to know what means have been taken to authenticate the various pieces he lists, especially those struck over coins of former years. Counterfeits struck from dies sunk from case hardened 1943 steel cents abound, and overstrikes are still easier to make since the counterfeiter can use any genuine cent for a planchet (which is doubtless why we have more overstruck cents for 1943 than for all other years put together). Any genuine 1943 bronze cent will have very sharp relief and a high wire edge due to the fact that it was struck under pressures intended for striking steel planchets. The VDB on the truncation will also be very sharp. Most of the struck counterfeits I have seen, besides lacking the above characteristics, are slightly off-center. Any bronze cent of an earlier year, overstruck under pressures intended for stamping steel planchets, will have most of its former image completely obliterated.

Spadone lists the Mickley restrike 1811 half cent at the fantastic price of $7,000 (about fifteen times higher than he lists the original, which is genuine!) and without reference to the fact that it was struck outside the Mint. Likewise, no mention is made to the outside-the-Mint origin of the 1823 restrike cent.

I would like to examine the 1825/21 and 1825/24 half dollars he lists at $2,400 and $2,700, respectively. I have never heard of either of these pieces, and as a specialist in this particular series, I am frankly skeptical.

Gold-plated, milled (sic.) edge 1883 5¢ are priced up to $8.00 by Spadone despite the fact that the Treasury Department has been confiscating these pieces for years. A two-headed nickel, apparently made by defacing two genuine coins and brazing together the obverse halves, is listed at the same price.

It would be impossible within the scope of a review to touch upon all the misleading entries and valuations in this book. Genuine rarities, mint errors, altered coins, pièces de caprice, and rank counterfeits are jumbled together without distinction, and the result will undoubtedly cause confusion to new collectors for years to come. — DON TAXAY

Guía De Las Monedas Decimales Mexicanas 1863-1963, by Prof. Theodore V. Buttrey, Jr., Whitman Publishing Company, 1963, Racine, Wis., board covers, 128 pp., illus., $1.50.

Even those of us who do not know the Spanish language can see that the above title is a translation of A Guide Book of Mexican Decimal Coins, 1863-1963, which was published by Whitman earlier this year. Prof. Buttrey's fine work, which was reviewed in the June issue, p. 780, has now been translated into Spanish by the prominent Mexican numismatist, Sergio Torres Martinez. The format, illustrations, and text are exactly the same as in the English language version. To our surprise, the prices of coins are in U. S. dollars and cents, which it was found are well understood by the majority of Mexican collectors. Practically all prices are the same as those in the earlier English language edition, although there are a few minor changes, particularly in some of the gold series.

The new edition, with the same cover, number of pages, etc., as the first edition, will hold great appeal for the Spanish speaking population of the United States as well as the Latin American collectors, where no similar book is available. It is priced the same as the English text book. It will be interesting to see if other of the Whitman coin books follow in other languages. — GLENN S.

FROM THE SECRETARY'S DESK

The following information is taken from the Board minutes held at the recent convention at Denver, Colo.:

Honorary memberships were awarded to George F. Marlier, A.N.A. 102, who joined the Association in 1898, and also to Donald R. Heath, son of the founder of The Numismatist, Dr. George F. Heath.

The Board voted to change the title of General Secretary to Executive Secretary and ordered that all references to this office in the bylaws be so changed. At this time, this is not to change the powers or duties of the present office of General Secretary.

The Board went on record that the A.N.A. is glad to say that junior members are important to the future of numismatics and that there is a need to work with all juniors who are interested in numismatics. The Board recommended that in the future this participation be encouraged at the local club level, rather than at the regional or national level.

The Board recommended that in the future, whenever an advertiser in The Numismatist uses a company name along with a reference to being an A.N.A. member, this advertiser must designate and identify the A.N.A. member either by name or by A.N.A. membership number.

The Board approved the publishing of a membership directory early in 1964, in large legible print, with the membership listed both alphabetically and geographically. This membership directory has been requested by many, many members of the A.N.A., but because of its tremendous cost, it was also decided that the dues, starting in 1964, would be increased to $6.00 per year. In order to keep the single copy and subscription prices in line, the Board also voted to increase the subscription rate to $7.50 per year at the same time and the single copies to 75¢ per issue.

The Board approved all of the resolutions brought to it by the Resolutions Committee. Attention is called to Resolution 10, covering counterfeits, copies, restrikes and reproductions. This resolution was recommended to the Resolutions Committee by the Board.

National Coin Week in 1964 will be from April 18 through April 26. Jack Koch was again named National Coin Week Chairman.

In accepting Governor Johnson's report on the Gifts and Bequests Committee, the Board passed the following resolution:

"The Association encourages gifts and bequests of money, numismatic collections or single items for the (1) fund for its national headquarters; (2) museum, library and numismatic collections; (3) general purposes; or, (4) special purposes approved by its Board of Governors."

Numismatic Vignettes

■ Since presenting awards — official and otherwise — was the order of the day at the Denver convention, here are my nominations for "Unsung Hero" awards: August F. Hausske, for the many hours he put in on the exhibit records and judging. In all, some twenty top flight numismatists took part in deciding the exhibit awards under "Auggie's" guidance. To Margo Russell, for her fine recording and reporting of convention activities. While being loyal to Coin World, Margo goes far beyond the call of duty to cooperate with and befriend others. To Dolly-Maude Harris and Helen Sherer, for manning the General Secretary's desk and making it a clearing house for information. Helen did a lot of back stage work for her hard working Don, also.

Sorry there weren't enough medals for all who deserved them, but we do love you. In the words of Sir Richard Burton: "Do what thy manhood bids thee do, from none but self expect applause; He noblest lives and noblest dies who makes and keeps his self-made laws."

■ The lack of artistry on modern coins is usually attributed to the requirements of mass production at low cost. This is a valid reason, and probably the dominant one. But today's coin dies are cut by mechanical processes from a model many times the size of the coin, in contrast to older dies which were the direct and personal work of the engraver-artist. A design may be very fine on the large model, but that doesn't mean that it will be equally pleasing in the greatly reduced size. And the artist hasn't the opportunity to make final touches as the die itself is being completed.

■ I dreamed that I died and to Heaven did go.
I rang the bell gaily
and bowed very low.
I said "I'm a coin dealer,"
Amazed they did seem.
"Come right in," said Peter,
"You're the first one we've seen."

Adapted from "Dreamer," author unknown.

■ What's in a name? Miss Peso is a teller on the main floor of the First National Bank of Chicago.

■ During the Denver convention, two numismatists were invited to appear on the hour and a half Bill Barker program on radio station KOA. Listeners were invited to telephone questions to any of the five guests, and the calls clearly demonstrated the general public's interest in coins and paper money. Most of the calls were directed to Miss Eva Adams, Director of the Mint, and the other numismatist. Some questions were not very discreet, such as asking Miss Adams how she got her appointment and what her qualifications were for it. One listener complained to her about careless trimming of paper money, revealing the common error that the mints produce paper money as well as coins. She praised the Denver mint and refuted rumors that it may be closed. "Not while I am Director of the Mint," she said with feeling.

■ Vol. 13, No. 3 of the Australian Numismatic Journal has three brief but informative articles on the 1813 New South Wales "Holey Dollar." Reference is particularly to contemporary counterfeits, one of which is identifiable by a transposed date, reading 3181.

■ There's no accounting for tastes! Returning home late one evening from mailing some last minute copy for The Numismatist, we stopped for a cup of coffee, which we drink straight. A man at the same counter ordered a cup of coffee, poured half of it out, put in three overflowing spoons of sugar, and then filled the cup with cream. Ugh! But apparently he enjoyed it, so what business is it of ours?

So it is, or should be, with a hobby. I can't "see" philately, but have a brother whose interest in it has helped him immensely in his twenty-seven years in a hospital bed. You collect — and enjoy — cents, nickels, dimes, etc., but they bore me. I am thrilled at finding a faded and tattered old bank note, which to you is just a worthless rag. Harry finds pleasure in Jewish coins and medals, which I can't even read. Et cetera, ad infinitum. One thing all of us should learn: Don't tell the other fellow what to collect, study and enjoy. Maybe give him a few "don'ts," but rarely any "do thou thus, because I do." — GLENN S.

Lessons on a Dollar Bill

By

LYNN KIRBY, Age 14

A Paper Presented to the Big Spring Coin Club, August 8, 1963

There's a powerful lesson on every dollar bill. There are a billion and a half one dollar bills in circulation, yet few persons know the meaning behind the symbols on them. Take a look at the back of one. The two circles represent both sides of the Great Seal of the United States.

The founders of our country thought it so important to express the basic truths of our nation in the Great Seal that the matter was brought before Congress on the very afternoon of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776. Three great leaders—Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and John Adams—were appointed as a committee to prepare the seal. Six years later, on June 20, 1782, after exhaustive study and largely through the efforts of William Barton and Charles Thomson, Congress passed a resolution approving the design of the Great Seal.

Reverse of the dollar bill.

First of all, note the pyramid in the left hand circle. It represents the material strength of our country. The unfinished tip of the pyramid signifies the belief of the designers that there was still much work to be done in the new republic. The all-seeing eye, surmounted on the unfinished pyramid, is symbolic of the Deity. The eye of God, though separate, completes the pyramid. It emphasizes the importance of putting spiritual welfare of our country above material things. Our founding fathers firmly believed that our strength was rooted in God, and that our progress must always be under the watchful eye of Providence.

The words "Annuit Coeptis" circling the top of the seal are once again a significant proof of the faith of the founding fathers and this nation's dependence on God. These words mean: He (God) has favored our undertakings.

Now look at the three Latin words directly under the pyramid, "Novus Ordo Seclorum," which mean "A new order of ages." They signify that this new republic, which had just been founded, introduced a new age in the life and freedom of the people of the world, that it ushered in a new era in which the people themselves would be able to exercise their God given rights of self government. The Roman numerals at the base of the pyramid add up to 1776, the beginning of the United States as an independent nation.

Thus, the pyramid actually stands for strength and endurance. The eye over it and the motto allude to the many signal interpositions of Providence in favor of the American cause. Benjamin Franklin is said to have been the first to suggest the eye of Providence in a radiant triangle.

Now, look at the right hand circle on the back of the dollar bill. The eagle first became our national emblem in 1782 when it was chosen for the Great Seal as a symbol of strength and victory. The shield on the eagle's breast signifies self reliance. It contains thirteen stripes as a reminder that each individual state, with its basic rights and responsibilities, was expected to help protect the freedom of all the states. The colors of the bar and stripes are red, white and blue in the seal itself. Red signifies hardness and valor; white signifies purity and innocence; and blue signifies vigilance, perseverance and justice.

In one talon or claw of the eagle, you will notice an olive branch; and if you examine it closely you will see that it has thirteen leaves. In the eagle's other talon is a bundle of thirteen arrows, symbolizing the power of peace and war. The olive branch and arrows are a reminder to the thirteen states of their obligation to work for peace and against war.

Above the eagle's head is a ring of light in gold surrounding thirteen stars of silver on a blue field. The stars denote "A new state taking its place and rank among other sovereign powers."

So you can see how important the Great Seal of the United States really is. In its design our founding fathers drew a lesson that was meant to be handed down to generations to come. In these days, when there is widespread criticism of how little is known about the high ideals on which our nation was founded, it is up to those who believe in God and our country to use every opportunity to keep all Americans conscious of the fact that our whole concept of liberty is rooted in divine truth.

Is There An 1826 Over 1825 Large Cent?

Many articles have been written about the United States large cents but one of the most controversial is the overdate, 1826/25. In every other overdate in the large cent series, the overdate is pronounced.

A survey conducted among some of the better qualified numismatists in the country proved that not one of the group of sixteen could tell why, in their opinion, this coin should be considered a true overdate. The consensus is that the coin is either Newcomb One or Newcomb Eight, the latter being generally preferred.

A search of numismatic literature shows that even in the mid-1800s such an overdate was never advertised for sale. Books written by Andrews, Doughty, Newcomb, Mehl and Mason were most complete and yet not a word was said of an 1826/25.

It is understood that new varieties are constantly being found but it is also true that in the Nineteenth Century more choice material was available, thus improving the chances of discoveries. When and by whom was this overdate found? Did someone actually see a six over a five, or was it a shift in the die, a filled die which may have caused an active imagination to create the six over five?

My personal opinion is that there is no 1826 overdate. A careful examination of an 1825 cent reveals that the upper arm of the five is thick and tapers thinner with a slight arc to the tip of the five. This arc does not show on any 1826 cents. The nearest possibility is Newcomb Eight. If a five was ever under a six a tip of the end of the arc would have to show above the six. On the Newcomb Eight a small mark is usually visible below the top of the figure six.

If a six were over a five, not only would there be a tip above the six, but on the base of the six there should be a part of the ball of the five showing, either inside or outside of the six. If not this, an extra heavy six would have had to be used to cover the ball of the five. Such an extra heavy six would be quite noticeable when compared with other 1826s.

Newcomb did not list an 1826/25 in his book and he was one of the experts of the large cent series, his collection being one of the best. A most recent example of doubt on this overdate was in A. Kosoff's Lee G. Lahrman sale which listed the 1826/25 in one lot as Newcomb One and in another lot as Newcomb Eight. And I might add that A. Kosoff is one of the country's better qualified numismatists.

The question, "Is there an 1826/25 large cent?" remains. — JOSEPH C. FLEMING, A.N.A. No. 37898.

Obituaries

ROBERT G. LOVELL, A.N.A. NO. 36602

Robert G. Lovell, 49, died suddenly on May 23 of a blood clot while serving with the U. S. Air Force in Hawaii. Born in New York State on February 21, 1914, he joined the Air Force in 1942 and was transferred from the Academy near Colorado Springs to Wheeler Air Force Base in Hawaii in July, 1960. He had recently won his Senior Master Sergeant rating.

A collector of stamps as well as coins, Sgt. Lovell was instrumental in organizing the Zebulon Pike Coin Club of Colorado Springs and was its first President. The hobby has lost a true friend and a fine numismatist. His body was returned to Denver for burial in the Ft. Logan Cemetery. Surviving are his widow, Gladys, and sons Robert Jr., 16, and Richard, 11. — RFC

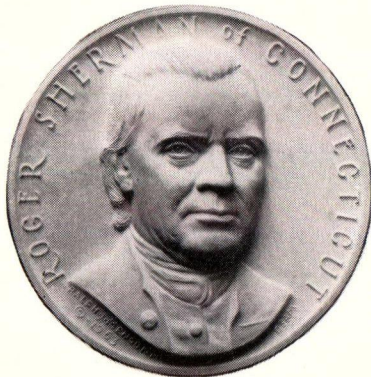

EDWARD C. STROUD, A.N.A. NO. 44940

Edward C. Stroud, 58, died August 16 at his home in Binghamton, N. Y., a victim of cancer. He had been a supervisor in the camera plant of the Ansco Corp. in Binghamton for many years.

Mr. Stroud had been a collector for about ten years, specializing in gem uncirculated and proof Mercury and Roosevelt dimes. Prior to the past year when ill health hampered him, he took an active part in the Triple Cities Coin Club and especially in its annual "Coin Is King Show." Although a quiet person, he was a worker and a painstaking student of numismatics who will be missed by many in the New York area. He was also a member of the Empire State Numismatic Association and the Schoharie County Organization of Numismatists. He attended many shows and conventions, and visited many eastern dealers in his quest for choice coins. And when a coin was acquired, it was for his prized collection — not to be put in a roll, hoarded or re-sold for financial gain.

Besides his widow, Helen, he is survived by a son, Lowell, and a daughter, Mrs. Herold (Donna) Rueffer, both of Binghamton. Burial was in the Vestal Memorial Park, with Reverend Professor Thomas A. Thomas of the Baptist Bible Seminary, Johnson City, officiating. — FGH

NEW A.N.A. PRESIDENT

P. K. Anderson, Hobart, Okla., was installed in office as A.N.A. President by his good friend Dr. John F. Lhotka, Jr., at the closing session of the Denver convention. He had defeated John J. Pittman, Rochester, N. Y. for the post by a vote of 6,075 to 4,465. Retiring President is C. C. Shroyer, Fremont, Ohio.

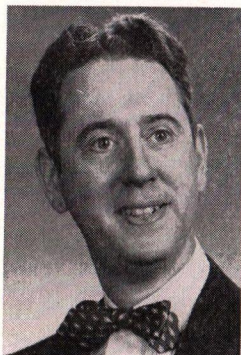

P. K. Anderson

The new President, active in A.N.A. affairs for many of his 68 years, holds Life membership No. 210, and has belonged to the Association since 1935. Many of his working years as a civil engineer were spent in South and Central America before his retirement. He is a combat veteran of both World Wars.

As author of numerous articles in The Numismatist, he was among the recipients of the Heath Literary Awards in 1948, 1953, 1954, 1955. Anderson served on the A.N.A. Board of Governors from 1955 to 1961 and as First Vice President from 1961 to 1963. The A.N.A. Medal of Merit came to him in 1958. Board Authorizes Investigation

"UNOFFICIAL" BALLOTS CAST IN A.N.A. ELECTION

In its report of the election of officers of the Association, published in the Denver convention proceedings in this issue, the C.P.A. firm of Troupe, Kehoe, Whiteaker and Kent made the following statement: "In addition, we received 1,493 ballots which clearly were not official ballots, and were not included in the tabulation."

The new Board of Governors, meeting in Denver on August 10, approved an attempt to determine, if possible, the source of these fraudulent ballots. Investigation is under way.

For those not familiar with the details, the following account of the election will be of interest and fill out the report of the "unofficial" ballots. To assure an honest and fair election, all proceedings were turned over to the C.P.A. firm named above, with instructions to act in behalf of the Board of Governors. The firm arranged with our printer, McCormick-Armstrong Company, to obtain special security paper with colored figured background, to print and mail one ballot to each member of the A.N.A. entitled to vote, and to account for all of the special paper purchased, including ballots mailed, spoilage and waste. Ballots were mailed on July 3 to members and the printer did account for all of the special paper purchased.

The Kansas City, Kansas, office of Troupe, Kehoe, Whiteaker and Kent tabulated the ballots—which had been mailed by members direct to it—received on or before July 24. In so doing, it was discovered that some of the ballots were not on the same quality of paper, that the printing was not sharp and clear, and that several other factors were different. Closer examination revealed that 1,493 ballots apparently were forgeries. A check made by the printers of the official ballots verified the auditor's belief that the 1,493 ballots had not been printed by them, and that they were not on the same quality of paper used for the official ballots.

Samples of the good and fraudulent ballots were shown to the Board of Governors on August 8. The Board recognized the obvious attempt to stuff the ballot box, and ruled that these ballots should not be included in the tabulation of election results.

The accounting firm reported that the bulk of the 1,493 fraudulent ballots were voted in exactly the same manner. The only logical conclusion is that one or more persons had ballots produced and voted in an attempt to magnify one vote almost 1500 times. It also appears that the only reason for the failure of the attempt was that careful preparation of official ballots precluded good reproductions being made in the short time between mailing and closing the election.

If the person or persons responsible for the attempted fraud can be identified, expulsion from the Association will be in order. If any member has any information which could throw light upon the matter, it is his duty to present such information to the Board of Governors by communicating with President P. K. Anderson or Executive Secretary Don Sherer.

CHICAGO CLUB FORMS ESTATE CONSERVATION ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The majority of members of the Chicago Coin Club are male heads of families responsible for the support of one or more dependents. Frequently their coin collections represent a substantial portion of their total estate. In the event of the death of a member, the liquidation or conservation of a coin collection in such a manner that will serve the best interests of the survivors may require specialized advice and assistance.

The Chicago Coin Club believes that it has a responsibility to its members by assuring them that at death this type of help will be available from a special committee of the club known as the Estate Conservation Advisory Committee.

CLUB NEWS

Officers of the Sonic Boom Coin Club (Fla.) were installed by outgoing President John W. Southwick at the July 5 annual banquet. Those taking office were: President Mrs. Billie Hilton, Vice President George Hughes, Secretary M/Sgt. Mercedes Bagwell, and Treasurer Capt. Charles Doughty. The Directors had offered a fifty cent reduction in annual dues to all members attending the banquet, which helped increase the attendance. In his farewell address as President, Major Southwick pointed out that the primary achievement of the club during the past year was winning the club competition at the first Northwest Florida coin convention in Panama City last March 9-10. He urged the membership to give full support to the new officers by participating in committee activities. In accepting the Presidency, Mrs. Hilton expressed the hope that the coming year would be still better than last, and emphasized the need for the support of all members. She announced the appointment of the following members to the Board of Directors: Lt. H. W. Alton, Bill Duzinski, Lt. Col. Wm. Pettit, and Sgt. F. L. Salzman. — JOHN W. SOUTHWICK, Chm. of the Board.

The Hunting Park Coin Club will hold its first open house on October 12 and invites all collectors and the public to the Mann Recreation Center, Fifth and Allegheny Avenue, Philadelphia, Penna. A $10 gold piece will be given to some lucky person who registers before the end of the 250 lot auction of numismatic items. — JIM MCNEILL, Gen. Chm.

President George Bishop extends a hearty invitation to collectors near and far to participate in the annual convention of the Oklahoma-Kansas Numismatic Association in Oklahoma City on October 11-13. With the Oklahoma City Coin Club as host, the affair will be held in the Sheraton-Oklahoma Hotel. Plenty of exhibit space is available for those wishing to enter in classifications for U. S. coins, ancient coins, foreign coins, paper money, medals and decorations, and a special class for junior collectors. Some cases are available, but arrangements should be made in advance with General Chairman Jake B. Sureck, 323 N. W. Second St., Oklahoma City 2. Awards will be given to those having the outstanding exhibits, and insurance and guard protection will be provided for all exhibits. The thirty-eight bourse tables have been reserved by dealers from eleven states, including California, Florida, Illinois, Ohio, Tennessee and Washington. Local dealer M. R. A lei and a kiss for each newly elected officer sparked the July meeting of the Honolulu Coin Club, which opened with brief installation ceremonies of the 1963-64 officers. Mrs. Irene Burd, a member of long standing, performed the traditional Hawaiian "Aloha" as she draped a garland of miniature orchids over the head and shoulders and gently bussed the cheek of each officer. The presidential gavel was presented to Gordon Medcalf, former secretary. Dr. George Oshiro, former vice president, was installed as treasurer, and Robert E. Van Dyke became the new secretary. Sergeant-at-arms duties went to Samuel C. Damico. Absent from the meeting, but assuming the position of vice president, was Harry Z. Colvin. The new directors are: John G. Krusynski, Paul Luke, Vernon J. Tucker, and Joseph M. Murphy, charter member and a former president. In appreciation for their successful efforts during the past year, the Club presented to each out-going official a gift of an engraved carved money-pod (a native Hawaiian wood) and again Mrs. Burd graciously performed the "Aloha" honors. President Medcalf, 32, has been a member of the Club two years. A native of Washington State, he became interested in numismatics back in 1942. Five years later the interest became a profession and he established the Oceana Coin Company. In 1961, he moved both family and the company to Honolulu. "Veep" Colvin, 57, joined the Club in 1960. A collector for five years, he was born in Kansas but moved to Honolulu in 1931. His livelihood is commercial refrigeration and store equipment. With a family of wife and one child, he begins his fifth year of practice as a dentist. Secretary Van Dyke, 25, was born and raised in Hawaii and joined the Club in 1957. Seven months ago he turned his hobby into a profession and subsequently became a business partner with the Oceana Coin Company here. A former resident of Atlantic City, N. J., is Sergeant-at-Arms Damico, who states his age at 39 plus. He came to Hawaii in 1943 with the U. S. Navy, was discharged in 1948 and remained in Honolulu where he is now working with the Federal Aviation Agency. He has collected coins for five years and has been a member of the Club since mid-1962.

The third annual Key City Coin Club's show ended its three day run at the Sands Hotel in Abilene, Texas, with dealers and visitors from seventeen states and an estimated attendance of 3,500. In the competitive classes, Louis Goodwin won first in the adult division with Coins of the Bible. In the Junior division, Paul Washburn II won first in foreign coins, and Nancy Gieger won first in U.S. coins. After the show, the Junior division exhibits were placed on display in the lobby of the First State Bank of Abilene. The show highlight came Saturday evening when Co-Chairman Paul Washburn introduced TNA President E. H. Brooks, who announced the exhibit winners and presented their awards. Fine coverage of the show by local newspapers and on T-V was given credit for the good turnout. — PAUL M. WASHBURN, Sec.

Harry Kaplun, general chairman of the California State Numismatic Association's 33rd semi-annual convention, reported that plans are well under way and everything points to its success. This affair will be hosted by our Club on November 7-10 at the Earl Warren Showgrounds. Kaplun advised us that Ray Bower will be handling the exhibits and awards, Don Jurgensen the bourse, and Mrs. Bruce T. Schuette the ladies hospitality. Federico Claveria, noted Mexican numismatist displayed two extremely rare coins: the 1931 large bronze five centavo piece of Mexico (1914-35) of which only three are known; and the 1759 pillar dollar struck at Santa Fe de Bogota, which is considered to be the rarest of pillar dollars. A new feature was introduced at this meeting—a drawing for a gold piece. Only fully paid-up members who are present at the meeting will be eligible to participate. It is felt that this grand monthly prize will encourage more members to attend meetings. — GWEN SENTIS, Sec.

At the July meeting of Torrance (Calif.) Coin Club, some ninety in attendance heard Clara Dykes give a short recap of the last N.A.S.C. board meeting. She stated that there are fifty-six local club members in the Association, and that the next convention will be held Feb. 27-March 1, 1964, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles. A resolution was passed, she reported, that all coins and medals struck as replicas must have "copy" on them. Program Chairman Foster Hall induced the well known numismatist Ralph "Curly" Mitchell to give us a most interesting talk about "Emperor Norton." A certificate of appreciation was given to "Curly" for his fine presentation. Display Chairman Richard Goodson again urged members to display items from their collections at our meetings. Exhibitors at this meeting were Bob Axelrod, Minerva Axelrod, Jay Cullens, Virginia Dennis, Elizabeth Goodson and Mel Kohl. Clifford received a certificate of appreciation for his most interesting talk on "Mormon Coins". Organized in 1957, the Galveston County Coin Club has had a show each year except 1961 when Hurricane Carla visited the county and left so much damage in her wake. This year's Jam-boree is to be held October 12-13 at Holiday Inn in Texas City. Located on Galveston Bay, the Inn is an ideal vacation spot with fishing, boating, swimming and golf right at hand. The Jamboree itself will open at 9 a.m. each day and close Sunday at 6 p.m., there being no admission charge at any time. Dealers from several states have reserved the twenty-two bourse tables, and we are assured of some mighty fine exhibits in eight classes. Besides members of this Club, exhibitors from the Treasure Island Coin Club in Galveston and the La Marque Junior Coin Club will compete for the trophies and ribbons to be awarded. Spring (Texas) Coin Club held its regular meeting on August 8, with Mrs. Dale Smith, vice president, in charge. grader and one of the Club's most enthusiastic collectors, Lynn earns money for his coin purchases by working with Dale Smith on a Frito route truck. Dale has been a collector for many years and has helped many persons get started in the hobby. Lynn's talk, inspired from a similar one given by Stanley McClintock of Fort Worth, has been submitted for publication in The Numismatist. — MRS. LEE SANDERSON, Sec.

President Fred Rosenthal greeted the members and guests to the 502nd meeting of Western Reserve Numismatic Club in the Statler-Hilton on August 14. Dorothy Humitsch introduced our speaker, "Austin Lloyd," whose subject was The Coinage of Cuba. Starting with the 1897 Souvenir Peso, he took us through the different designs of coins, including the commemoratives in 1953 for "Marti." Joseph Sawicki showed his Postal issue from Tonga, which looked just like gold coins, and Schaffer had a Pan American medal made of black carbon. Dorothy Humitsch showed large colored pictures of odd and curious monies, and some Siamese money weights. Dr. John S. Wilkinson, honored President of Canadian Numismatic Association and one of our own members, addressed the Toronto Coin Club meeting of July 27 in the Royal York Hotel. His subject was "Coinage from Cleopatra to Diocletian." From that classical age he exhibited superb pieces: stater, obol, drachma, tetradrachm and denarius; pieces bearing in effigy the gods of Egypt, Greece and Rome; in effigy, their heroes and emperors; the symbols of hearth and home, of war and peace. As Dr. Wilkinson invoked the shining names, there rose to mind the great Alexander, who carried the Tale of Troy to Kabul and Karachi; who created the sovereignty inherited by the Greek dynasty of the Ptolemies; a dynasty flowering in Cleopatra whom age could not wither nor custom stale, whose work on coins, weights and measures has been lost to posterity. Vividly, too, came to mind Julius Caesar, distilling his own life into his own words, "Soldiers depend on money; money depends on power; power depends on soldiers." Dr. Wilkinson was succeeded by Albert Peddie, FRNS, whose Club membership is No. 8, displaying an admirable collection of the notes of Scots banks; notes of high artistic merit. In perspicuous summary, he explained that the commercial banks of Scotland continue to issue their notes today, just as Canadian banks did before the creation of a central bank; that the Canadian banking system, like the first Bank of the United States, was modelled after the Scots banks. Ed Schroeder's array of Swiss coins and medals was worth going far to see. — H. A. CRAIG, Vice Pres.

The Secretary gave a talk on mechanical banks to the thirty-five present at the August 13 meeting of Essex County Coin Club at Crestmont Savings in Maplewood, N. J. MAC-KAY, Vice Pres.

The 49er Coin Club held its 78th meeting on August 14 with (appropriately) 49 in attendance. Joy Parrish, winner of the gold cup trophy in her category at the June Santa Barbara Convention, spoke on her winning display, "Crowns and Silver Dollars of the World." She displayed these coins and detailed some of the highlights of many of them, stating that her research was incomplete on others. Winners in the evening's exhibits were: Elmer Hess, first — U. S. General Coins; Mel Kohl, second — Mexican Coins; and Ernest Featherston, third — U. S. Type Coins. The Forty-Niner's meet the second Wednesday evening monthly at the Recreation Hall, Bullis Road and Century Blvd. in Lynwood, Calif. Visitors are always welcome. — LILA M. BARRETT, Sec.

The Mountaineer Coin Club, Morgantown, W. Va., held its regular meeting and auction on August 4. Whitey Mansberger, bourse chairman, said that all space had been sold for our October 12-13 show, and that checks arriving too late were being returned with regrets. Exhibit Chairman George Field reported considerable activity in that branch of the show and feels that all space will be reserved well in advance. President C. C. Street appointed other show chairmen with the prediction that it will be a highly successful affair. — ARTHUR B. BEAUMONT, Publ. Chm.

Among the two hundred cases of exhibits will be such items as two coin "Kings," an 1804 silver dollar and a 1913 "V" nickel. With President Ann Hall conducting the July meeting of the Compton Coin Club, the eighty in attendance heard our Charter Member Kenneth Young, as a surprise speaker, talk on "Many Facets of Numismatics." He spoke briefly on coins from early times to the present, and of friendliness in coin clubs. In particular, he praised all officers for their unselfish and devoted time. Four year old Jessica Fick, our youngest member, presented the speaker's trophy to Kenneth, one of our oldest charter members. Apart from his talk, Young reported on the last N.A.S.C. board meeting and on plans for its convention next February 27 at the Statler-Hilton in Los Angeles. He urged all members to participate in the exhibits since there are various categories into which almost any display would fit. A four-foot high trophy is to be given to the winner of best-in-show, with just as nice trophies for other winners. Mel Kohl won first with his exhibit of "International Coins," and Ernest Featherston took second with "Monies of Many Metals." We welcome guests to our third Wednesday meetings at the Compton New Recreation Center in Compton, Calif. — MRS. M. W. DENNIS, Sec.

Sid Marks of Sherman Oaks, National Coin Week first award winner, was guest speaker at the Lawndale (Calif.) Coin Club meeting on July 21. Complimented by his outstanding display, his talk was on collecting "Type Coins." Included in his display were several rare half cents, 1796 dime and quarter from the Col. Green collection, an 1866 nickel and various patterns. We had seventeen cases of exhibits, with first prize going to Mel Kohl. Second prizes went to Vera Crow and Gertrude Honseller. Forty-four members and guests were present at the August meeting of San Gabriel Valley Coin Club. President Tom Wood of NASC was guest speaker, discussing its functions and activities, and also the controversial coin reproduction problem. — C. L. STRATTON, Publ. Chm.

One of the aims of the Milwaukee Numismatic Society is to provide a diversified selection of books for the use of its growing membership. Our library was the recipient of three excellent books at the June meeting. They were: Texas Confederate County Notes and Private Scrip, by H. Corlin & Hank Bieciuk; Harold Bowen's State Bank Notes of Michigan; and The Currency of the Great War, by Benjamin White. The latter scarce book was donated by James Buchbinder. A non-numismatic book was donated by Gale Highsmith, the author and an authority on tracking satellites. A coin quiz conducted by President Kellner, assisted by Charles Mayer and Tony Tramte, was the highlight of the meeting. We were surprised at how much and how little our members know about U. S. coins. Prizes were donated by Charles Mayer. (Editor's note: They won't tell who won them.) For a "something different meeting," try a coin quiz to stimulate member interest. Exhibits were based on the increased interest in Canadian items. Robert Kellner explained the "devil-in-hair" Queen Elizabeth Canadian note and the interesting story behind the 1958 totem pole death dollar. Tony Tramte exhibited the scarce Canadian $5 gold coins of 1912-13-14. Gale Highsmith exhibited and spoke on Canadian medals and on whale, bear and caribou teeth used as money, and Hudson Bay trade beads and square coins. Harry Collura exhibited a complete set of Palestine coins and the recent Andoria 50 dinar piece. William Pietsch showed brilliant proof 20-cent coins of 1875-6-7-8. Mrs. Swain, who has an outstanding nail collection, told us about some of her recent acquisitions. Walter Boeyer displayed ancient Greek coins of finest style. Ken Kantak had us guessing when he talked on coins and at the same time began taking off a number of shirts—until he stopped with one having a definite coin motif. Quite an ending to another outstanding Milwaukee meeting.

Building a coin club meeting around local events can result in visitor interest and increased membership. The Fourth of July celebration in Milwaukee featured circus wagons and animals from the World Circus Museum at Baraboo. So our July meeting featured coins and paper money with a circus motif. The number one U. S. coin relating to the circus is the Bridgeport half dollar, picturing P. T. Barnum. A set of depression scrip from Baraboo featured pictures of the famous Ringling Brothers. Gale Highsmith exhibited and talked on these items and on elephant weights, a section of elephant hide and an elephant tail used as money. Harry Collura and Robert Kellner showed the puffin coins of Lundy Island. The Librarian displayed ancient Greek coins depicting lions and a Roman coin of Titus with an elephant on the reverse, commemorating the opening of the Colosseum at Rome, elephants having been used in various events. A German satiric medal by Karl Goetz showed the French Clemenceau as an ape on one side and a tiger on the other. Ed Kuebler exhibited choice medieval thalers of Saxony and Parma. The club library added another good book, A Book of Greek Coins, by Charles Seltman.—WALTER BOEYER, Librarian

The Old Fort Coin Club will hold its sixth annual open house and exhibit on November 3-4 in the National Guard Armory in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The doors will open each day at 10 a.m. and closing will be at 6 p.m. Sunday. General Chairman is L. D. Beaver, 2111 Maumee Avenue, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Coins of countries that make up Spanish America will be the theme for exhibits by members of Peninsula Coin Club at the October 28 meeting at the Palo Alto Community Center. Doors open at 7:15 p.m. to permit setting up exhibits from "South of the Border," starting with numismatically fascinating Mexico and extending to Central and South America. Theme exhibits have been continued for several years at our meetings the fourth Monday monthly and many fine exhibits have been enjoyed by members and visitors. Collectors from other areas are always welcome, so come to the October 28 meeting or to "Other Hobbies" night on November 25.—ROY HILL, Sec.

In an atmosphere of pleasant numismatic conversation and good feeling, members of the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society held their annual social meeting on August 6 at the Webster Hall Hotel in Pittsburgh. It was in the Hunt Room that they met, but the twenty-one members and their eighteen guests didn't have to "hunt" for sparkling exhibits or for specimens to add to their collections. Truly, a good time was had by all.—GLENN A. MOONEY, Sec.

You are cordially invited to the first annual show of the Las Vegas Numismatic Society, to be held November 16-17 at the Sahara Hotel. This one-thousand room hotel is located on the fabulous "Strip" in Las Vegas, Nevada, and has every facility for a fine convention. Eighty bourse tables are available at $20 for the two-day event which will be open to the public without charge. President Paul Richert promises many activities, including a nominal cost tour of Lake Mead and Hoover Dam, and reservations for the many fabulous Las Vegas shows. Maximum security will be provided for the exhibits and bourse in the Hotel's beautiful convention room. General Chairman Carl G. Taylor, 3720 Fortune Ave., Las Vegas, Nevada, urges all who plan to attend to make hotel reservations early, and to bring the family for a memorable weekend in Las Vegas in mid-November.

After holding three preliminary meetings, eleven collectors met on August 1, closed the charter membership, adopted a constitution and thus organized the World Coin Club of Houston. Officers for 1963-64 are: President Don Selbert, Vice President H. C. Graham, Treasurer Gerald Kendall, Secretary Chris Johns, and Executive Committeeman Lonnie Roberts. The other charter members are: Marvin Baker, H. J. Bender, Chris and Rosemary Goshert, Don Norwood and Harvey Thamm. All phases of world numismatics are included in the specialties and collections of these eleven who have joined in the study of this broad field. Other collectors interested in world coins will be welcomed as members of the Club. Meetings are to be held the first Thursday evening monthly but no definite place has been decided upon. Interested persons may get information from the secretary by calling JA 4-5882. Kendall and Johns hold executive positions in the Greater Houston Coin Club and are encouraging its members who enjoy world coinage to join the new club also. H. J. Bender recently came to Houston from California where he was affiliated with another world coin club. Taking advantage of the board knowledge possessed by Lonnie Roberts, he has been named official attributor by his fellow members.—CHRIS GOSHERT, Publ. Chm.

"Cajun Coinival" will be South Louisiana's first annual coin show, to be held October 20 in the Evangeline Hotel in Lafayette. The Crowley Coin Club and the Lafayette Coin Club have agreed to sponsor the show and plan to alternate it between the two cities each year. Bourse tables for dealers and display tables for exhibitors will be reserved upon request. The committee feels that the enthusiasm of collectors in the historic land of Evangeline will be shared by those elsewhere who will attend the Cajun Coinival. General Chairman is Gordon E. Hilton, P. O. Box 1207, USL Station, Lafayette, La.

The Cheshire Coin Club will hold its fourth annual coin show on November 3 at the Grange Hall in Cheshire, Connecticut. It will be open to all from noon to 8 p.m., with free parking and admission. Included will be bourse tables, an auction and door prizes.—GLENN WISEMAN.

The May meeting of Monterey Park (Cal.) Coin Club was attended by 110 members and guests. The highlight of the evening was a talk by Walter Holzworth on a trip just completed that included diving to the ocean floor in search of coins in sunken ships. The trip covered a period to three months and was so successful that another is planned for the near future. Many pictures were taken, some of which were shown at the meeting, and Walter's display of coins from the ocean depths won the first prize. — VERA SCHYMOS, Corr. Sec.

will be shown for the first time publicly at Evansville Coin Club's annual show October 26-27. The Vendome Hotel, long known as a habitat of coin bugs, Numismatica domestica, long known to exist and often called "Numismatic bug," recently isolated and to be exhibited in Evansville, Indiana, October 26-27.

So much has been said and written about the bite of the numismatic bug that the Evansville Coin Club persuaded Secretary Bettye J. Klauss to study the source of this disease. After months of intensive study, research, traveling far and wide, and with the help of Dr. C. W. Robertson and Leslie Miley, Jr., of Evansville College, Mrs. Klauss has isolated and classified the "bug." Harmful only to man, there is no cure for its insidious and deadly sting. The disease transmitted by the insect is so contagious that it's been known to infect entire families. A pair of the bugs (the female is distinguished by a "green-back"), and much more data about them, will be the site of fine exhibits in five classes, a bourse of well-known dealers, an auction each afternoon, and a Saturday evening banquet. The guest speaker will be Professor Harold B. Metcalf, lecturer on Numismatics at Purdue University, whose topic has been announced as "The Financing of Coin Purchasing." Further information may be obtained from General Chairman Sterling Harrison, 1351 Washington Ave., Evansville, Ind. — BETTYE J. KLAUSS, Sec.

COIN GALLERIES'

NOVEMBER PUBLIC AUCTION SALE

During the month of November, Coin Galleries will hold its second public Auction Sale of this year. There will be an extensive run of United States gold coins of interest to the Collector who does not concentrate on the great rarities. The U. S. material will not overshadow an equally interesting offering of Foreign Gold and Silver coins and a variety of unusual coins of the Ancient World. Our catalog will be ready for mailing early in October.

THE NUMISMATIC REVIEW, Number 4, 1963

The latest issue of The Numismatic Review has now been mailed to our subscribers. The Review caters to the interests of the old fashioned coin collector who, we believe, has not yet gone out of style, in spite of all we hear these days about the "Investor." One of our readers recently commented that the Review "is one of the very few publications in this country we can proudly call Numismatic". If you are not a subscriber let us remind you that for $3.50 a year you can receive this outstanding coin magazine, as well as all of Coin Galleries' Public Auction Sale catalogs. We specialize in good reading matter and good coins for the genuinely interested coin collector. A few rare Ancient gold coins listed in Number 4 are described below.

TESTING

There has long been a theory that a strong market runs ahead of the Standard Catalogue values. When in the course of price revisions, the catalogue values are unduly increased, the market tends to dwindle.

The case history of United States Paper Money is a case in point. For several years it was difficult to acquire choice specimens except at premiums above list prices. Then the revision came and unrealistic increases dampened the ardor of collectors. The series has been quiet for some time. Lately, however, definite signs of a renewal of collector interest in this series has become apparent and this observation has been confirmed by inquiries and advertising results.

We have prevailed upon a group of dealers who handle paper money to submit independent valuations reflecting their opinions as to true present market values. These have been charted and averaged. All agreed in advance that unrealistically high catalogue values should be eliminated.

Now we are testing to see if the results are real—we feel that the collector will recognize the value of this initiative.

The response will tell the story. These offerings reflect the consensus of opinions of experienced experts who want realism in our price structure. The reference numbers are to FRIEDBERG, Paper Money of the United States.

SPECIAL OFFER TO A.N.A. MEMBERS ONLY. (See below)

To preserve, beautify and enhance the value of your coins, we recommend and offer

Our own product, unequalled for cleaning coins, particularly useful on coins of copper or nickel. Easy to use, rapid and economical. In stores a 4-oz. bottle is $1.00. The full 4-oz. bottle is now mailed anywhere in the U. S. or Canada for $1.00.

Our new product. Use it to restore the color of age to coins which have been cleaned. Introduced in 1962 and 15,000 bottles sold in four months. In stores the 4-oz. bottle is $1.00. The same bottle will be sent by mail for $1.00, postpaid in U.S. or Canada. "CCD" turns your coins brown, not black.

"CARE"

Recommended for conditioning and preserving coins. Improves appearance and protects against corrosion. The 2-oz. bottle will treat thousands of coins. In stores, $1.35 or by mail, postpaid in the U.S. or Canada, $1.50.

"JEWELUSTER"

We have ourselves used and recommended this dip for more than 12 years; principally for removing tarnish from proof and uncirculated silver coins (Commemorative halves, etc.). 5-oz. plastic jar is $1.00 in stores, or $1.25 postpaid in U. S. or Canada.

"V. M. CLOTH"

For "high-lighting" and improving appearance of badly worn coins. Valuable accessory when used according to directions. Price: 50¢, postpaid in the U.S. or Canada.

Send $4.75 for one each of "CCC," "CCD," "CARE" and "JEWELUSTER" (postpaid) and get the "V. M. Cloth" free.

When we say "postpaid" we mean carefully packaged to meet stiff postal requirements, and safe delivery guaranteed.

DEALERS' INTRODUCTORY OFFER: Get six bottles of "CCC" (4-oz.), "CCD," or "JEWELUSTER" for $4.00 postpaid, or six "CARE" for $5.40 postpaid. Order six each of the four accessories for $17.40 postpaid and receive six V. M. Cloths free.

*A.N.A. members may write, giving A.N.A. number, and say they want to try any or all five of the above products. After ten days' trial, we ask that they remit for what they like and throw away any which do not do what we say. After all, we know what these products will do, and A.N.A. members are reliable.

INTRODUCING . . . THE

AMERICANA DECOR FRAME

Now you can display your Declaration Signers Art Medals along with the most prominent document in American History.

The Americana Decor Frame features an exact reproduction of the Declaration of Independence on parchment paper encircled with portraits of the 56 Signers on a dawn gray background.

The portraits are perforated so that they may be easily removed to insert the actual Declaration Signers Art Medals.

This is an ideal way to display the founders of our country and will make a beautiful addition to any decorating motif.

The Americana Decor Frame is available with either an 18" x 24" unfinished solid oak frame or an attractive gray driftwood frame.

COIN MEDALS . . .

The Magnificent Medals of Real Numismatic Interest

A series of beautifully sculptured, numismatically designed medals commemorating famous coin designers. The Augustus Saint-Gaudens and Victor D. Brenner medals, the first two in the COIN MEDALS series, are now ready for immediate shipment, and the Charles E. Barber medal will be ready in June.

COIN MEDALS are sculptured in very high relief on both obverse and reverse by master artist Robert Schabel, and quality struck by The Metal Arts Company of Rochester, New York. The obverse of every COIN MEDAL depicts the finest medallic work of the artist being commemorated, and the reverse, as shown above, symbolizes his work in coins.

COIN MEDALS are issued in bronze, and in a serially numbered pure silver issue not to exceed 5000. Each medal is three inches in diameter, and weigh close to a half-pound in silver, so they are not to be confused with ordinary coin size medals.

PRICES OF COIN MEDALS

in serially numbered pure silver, in velvet lined case.....$35.00

The Victor D. Brenner Medal: Bronze $5.50, or2 for $10.00

YOU might own a coin worth a piece of Fort Knox hidden away

in an old, dusty box.

Or is it in a pickle jar . . .
in grandma's purse . . .

It won't do you much good

if you don't know the value of your special piece.

THE EMPIRE INVESTORS REPORT

A concise fact-filled bi-weekly newsletter containing "inside information" on all aspects of the rare coin business . . . modern U.S. coins, rolls and proof sets; earlier sets, type coins, gold, silver, nickel and copper issues; coins of the world.

Written in TEXT FORM, each issue is entirely different. No repetitious listings . . . these are easily obtainable elsewhere. Written objectively and not "pushing" any part of the market. As the experience of our staff members covers everything from classical coins to last year's proof sets, we are qualified to write the report in an unbiased manner.

Current issues and planned issues contain information and facts concerning:

- U. S. Coins from 1930 to date . . . rolls, bags, proof sets.
- Commemoratives. Which are overpriced? Which are bargains today?
- Lincoln cents, Indian cents. Unpublished information concerning rarity.
- Type coins. The big fad of 1961-1962. Interest is again growing rapidly.
- Silver dollars. Effects of hoards. Buy or sell now? 1903-O, 1895, etc., discussed.
- Gold coins. Information from Europe. Hoards. Undervalued coins.
- Coins of the world . . . England, Canada, Mexico, crowns of the world, foreign patterns, specimen sets, etc.
- Cycles and trends in rare coins.
- What dealers are buying now in anticipation of price rises.
- Thousands of hitherto unpublished facts and figures. Confidential information from behind the scenes.

The EMPIRE INVESTORS REPORT is an outstanding success. The response and acclaim for our issues to date has been tremendous . . . from leading editors, dealers, collectors and investors. If sensible accurate information is of interest to you, you cannot afford to be without this valuable service. We guarantee you will be 100% satisfied. THE EMPIRE INVESTORS REPORT IS UNIQUE . . . THERE IS NO OTHER PUBLICATION LIKE IT IN THE COIN FIELD! See for yourself!

Send $1 for a sample copy of the latest issue. Or subscribe now, $26 for a year's first class subscription or $28 for airmail delivery. Act now. Don't miss the next issue!

The above investments are only a FEW of the many, many coin investment deals in my files. I will send proof of the profits in these deals to anyone writing in for same, with self-addressed stamped envelope.

MY INVESTMENT PLAN
AND HOW IT WORKS

Send me a minimum of $500.00 for which I will send you the TOP BEST COINS that will give you MAXIMUM PROFITS in SHORTEST TIME. The selections I send you will be at average retail prevailing prices. NEVER HIGHER. In many cases selections will be sent to you LOWER than prevailing market retail prices, depending on amount of investment. I am prepared to accommodate you with investment lots of $500.00 up to $100,000.00. You may reorder as often as you wish. ALL COINS GUARANTEED GENUINE.

As my client you may sell me back same coins anytime you feel you have made a handsome profit, but this is not compulsory or necessary, as you are at liberty to sell to anyone at any time.

You may suggest what coin material you desire for investment as to Rolls, Sets, Gold, Key-Dates, Single Rarities, Bags, etc., but I sincerely trust that the ultimate choice will be left to my recommendation. I have up to the minute knowledge, source and material to serve you best. As soon as your check is received I will send you your coins with a CAREFULLY ITEMIZED LIST. If for any reason you are not satisfied with my selection you may return the coins at once, and your check will be returned as soon as coins are received. However, no client yet has ever returned any selections. NO CLIENT HAS EVER SHOWN A LOSS. YOUR SUCCESS IS MY SUCCESS. Each hour you delay is money lost to you. SEND IN YOUR CHECK TODAY!! I PLEDGE MY HONEST AND SINCERE SERVICE, KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE TO YOU, MY CLIENT.

It is important that I repeat: I get my fair margin of profit ONLY from the coins I sell you each time you buy my COIN SELECTIONS. My profit usually is so small I must put a $500.00 MINIMUM for an INVESTMENT ORDER. The coins I select for your investment are designed to double or even TRIPLE your investment in THREE YEARS. Naturally the longer you keep the coins the greater the profit. The coins you buy from me are YOURS to keep or to sell. You may sell at any time and to any one you wish. YOU ARE THE SOLE OWNER OF THE COINS. Every three months I shall inform you of the progress of your investment if you wish. Please send self-addressed stamped envelope for this information as there is no fee for this extra service. (I deal in U. S. coins exclusively.)

OUR APOLOGY !

To our former serious collectors and fellow numismatists, who sent us a deluge of mail, complaining that they were going to be neglected, in their need for coins at the right prices.

Yes, we admit to the fact, that when it was advertised we were going exclusively WHOLESale, we did not intend to vacillate in this respect.

Now we find ourselves, with commitments placed by us with Foreign Agents, that are not revocable.

Therefore, we will continue our Wholesale Business, supplying Proof Sets, Commemorative Crowns and Sets, Specimen Sets of current coinage to our present dealer set-up which consists of two accounts in Canada, thirty-four accounts in The United States, two accounts in Mexico, two accounts in The Republic of Panama, one account in Japan and one account in Italy. No new accounts will be opened until we can expand operations.

To our REGULAR NUMISMATIC ACCOUNTS, we will continue to accept your Want Lists, present various coins from time to time — HOWEVER no sets or individual coins from our Wholesale division will be offered or made available.

During our former period of transition, we disposed of our entire Retail Stock. To those who benefited by this and others PLEASE SELL US YOUR SURPLUS CROWNS, PROOF SETS, COMMEMORATIVE SETS and CROWNS. Remember foreign material only.

This is a great hobby. Crazy, but great!

At Capital Plastics, we love this hobby. We live it and breathe it. Maybe we're a little crazy. Maybe we're nuts knocking ourselves out giving immediate delivery on most of our holders. Maybe we're too meticulous, insisting on a quality control such as ours. Maybe we're screwy to offer so many beautiful colors, compounding our inventory problems. Maybe we're "teched" to make Capital holders for darn near every conceivable set of coins available. Guess we are crazy. But we wouldn't change a thing. We love it this way. This is a great hobby.

"After having tested your product for about a month, may I add my name and my partners to the growing list of people who sing your praises. Never before have I seen a chemical do the job of lifting surface dirt off a coin and keeping it off as yours does. We wish to stock this item and use it. BRILLIANTIZE is better than anything else on the market — Believe me, I've tried them all! My partner and I have two large stores." — New York

"I was very pleased with the first coin I cleaned with BRILLIANTIZE (all the rest, too, of course). It is the best coin cleaner I have ever used." — Georgia

"Have used it before and there is no equal or near equal." — California.

Very few people, indeed. But unfortunately it's true that there are some numismatists who may not wear gym shoes with a tux, but who show their favorite, valuable coins in something considerably less enhancing than a Capital holder. Incredible, isn't it? Especially when you can buy a jewel-like Capital holder for as little as $1.50. And if you have any doubts about what a luxurious setting a Capital holder will provide for your coins, peruse the presentations of the professionals in our hobby! See your dealer soon, but if he doesn't carry Capital, write direct.

FOREIGN COINS

For a good many years now a sustained flow of interesting, fairly attributed and soberly priced foreign patterns, gold, crowns, minor coins, medals, proclamation pieces, etc., has moved through my price lists which come out twice a month.

If you have a collection, hoard or stock of worthwhile foreign material you'd like to dispose of advantageously through competent hands, I'd like to hear of it.

The famous Chemicograph backs:

- Item 5. All six "Chemicograph" prints in colors, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100 and $500 denominations. Originally intended for the backs of the February 17, 1864 issue. Interesting designs all different, unlike the plain designs actually used. Shipments of plates from England, ordered by the Confederacy, mysteriously vanished, probably seized in the Union blockade. These prints were struck from the only set of genuine plates that has been found. (See article, April 1960, The Numismatist). SDC Packet includes the six (6) prints, display and historical material. Price $6.00. Special combination price with any of above items — $4.00. Free descriptive circular on request.

The above items are the property of Dartmouth College. Order through me, Sales Agent for the College, remitting by money order or check to order of "Dartmouth College."

QUICKENING TIME

Where foreign coins are concerned, there has been a quickening of the pulse, a feeling of expectancy and action, as though something good is about to happen. There is more life and zest to the old hobby. Perhaps you have felt it. Anyway, it is a good sign, and all the signs point to foreign coins as the hobby of the future!

If you are now a collector of foreign coins, you will enjoy my price list of modern foreign. If you are not, but are thinking of it, you will find these lists the easiest way to start. No charge, of course, and a postal card will do.

In the Deep South where century old homes still stand, small children often find old coins in jars, boxes, cabinets and old trunks. Coins that were put away years ago and long since forgotten. Small children often spend these in gum machines. Our pennies are gathered from gum machines in small towns, villages and cities of south Alabama. Guaranteed numismatically untouched.
